

SIX KILLED WHEN TRAIN STRIKES AUTO SAY FUNDS MISUSED

IRREGULARITIES SAID TO EXIST IN VET BUREAU

Washington, March 30.—Evidence of wild extravagance and alleged "irregularities" in the control of hospitalization funds, which may ultimately reach the proportions of a national scandal, has been unearthed by the preliminary senatorial investigation of the United States Veterans Bureau, International News Service learned officially today.

After merely touching the surface of the bureau's administrative record, the senatorial inquiry is said to have revealed instances of "gross abuses" in the award of contract payments for dental treatment of former soldiers. These payments were involved in expenditures into millions of dollars it was said.

Other evidence now in the hands of the investigators is understood to indicate the inquiry would ultimately reveal gross negligence and perhaps even actual dishonesty in the administration of the bureau.

The preliminary probe which unearthed this evidence, was conducted by Major General John F. O'Ryan, of New York, acting as special counsel to the senate committee. A special report setting forth his findings to date has been prepared by General O'Ryan for submission to the committee.

As a result of the preliminary revelations, General O'Ryan has taken steps to create special investigating agencies in every state of the union. These state board will be composed of widely known lawyers who also served in the army during the war. They will be empowered to hear complaints of hospitalization abuses in their own states and to submit recommendations for remedial action to the senate committee.

In order to organize these agencies, General O'Ryan has appealed to the presidents of the bar associations of all states for recommendations on their membership.

General O'Ryan will name the board members from the names submitted by the bar presidents. This action was taken to give every state an equal opportunity to be heard on complaints against the management of the veterans bureau. The findings of the state boards later will be submitted to the senate committee.

SOUTH IN MIDST OF COMEBACK HARDING TOLD IN FLORIDA

The agricultural south, hard hit by the ravages of the boll weevil and the effects of the nationwide wave of depression is in the midst of a rapid comeback, President Harding was informed today by Fred Starck, director of the War Finance Corporation, who has partially completed an inspection trip through the southern states.

Starck talked farm credits with the president, for more than an hour. It was one of the few business conferences Mr. Harding has engaged in since starting on his vacation trip from Washington.

President Harding was greatly interested in the report of the War Finance Corporation as he expects to dwell considerably on the agriculture situation and what has been done to help it when he makes his swing through the west this summer.

With the end of the presidential vacation in sight, Mr. Harding is already beginning to slack down in his "play" and devote some time each day to consideration of official matters. He is continuing conferences with Chairman Lasker, of the shipping board on the government's merchant marine policy, but no decision has been reached as to the disposition of the fleet.

U. S. ATTEMPTS TO CONTROL SHIPS

Washington, March 30.—Another knotty problem affecting the enforcement of the National prohibition act, confronted the department of justice today.

The government's legal experts have been asked by Secretary of State Hughes to decide if jurisdiction over shipping board vessels can be retained by the United States even after the ships have been sold to foreign companies.

The question was raised by a protest made to the state department by the Canadian government against efforts of the shipping board to prevent American ships from being diverted to the rum running trade in violation of the Volstead act.

Make Motorman Director of Philadelphia Lines

Ralph R. Nyman, a 400-pound motorman, has been chosen to represent the employees on the Board of Directors of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Lines. Nyman is President of the Co-operative Welfare Association of the employees. He has been a motorman for 14 years. He succeeds John W. McElroy, the first employee to be elected to the board.

WILL CONSIDER OFFER OF PEACE IN RUHR VALLEY

Paris, March 30.—Premier Poincare sent a message to the chamber of deputies today stating that France will examine any offer made by Germany through the allies for settlement of the Ruhr problem providing it "is precise, serious and direct."

Heretofore, France had maintained the position that any German proposals would have to be made direct from Berlin to Paris.

Premier Poincare's announcement was received with applause. Later the chamber of deputies adjourned until May 8, after voting the appropriations necessary to maintain the military establishment and administration in the Ruhr. Premier Poincare's message was carefully worded and was received just before adjournment for the Easter holiday. He stated that the government had decided to allow Germany to make an offer to France through the allies, on condition they are "serious written propositions and not an attempt at mediation," he added.

"We will not accept any semi-official or indirect negotiations but the day the German government recognizes that resistance is destructive to Germany itself and brings to us or to the allies serious precise preparations we will examine them with loyalty and justice."

CLASH WITH BRITISH OVER RUM SMUGGLING

Washington, March 30.—Efforts of the United States government to break up liquor smuggling from neighboring British possessions have brought about another clash with the British government. Protest has been filed with the state department by the British ambassador against restrictions which the American government has undertaken to impose in the transfer of vessels from American to British registry. The shipping board has sent all the papers on the question to the state department. The British raise the point that the American government is undertaking arbitrarily to retain legal jurisdiction that would permit the confiscation of the ships after they pass from American ownership and come under the control and protection of the British flag.

In selling ships to foreigners, the shipping board inserts a clause in the bill of sale which prohibits the vessel from being used for the illegal transportation of liquor to American shores and gives the United States government authority to confiscate the ship if the contract is violated. The Canadian government holds the shipping board to submit all der international law to say what use a vessel will be put to after it relinquishes ownership.

Before replying to the Canadian protest, Secretary of State Hughes has called for an opinion from the department of justice and has asked the shipping board to submit all records it has bearing on the controversy.

POLICY BOARD TO BEGIN WORK TO SELL FLEET

Washington, March 30.—With no aid or encouragement from the three branches of the shipping industry called upon for suggestions, the shipping board policy committee will begin work on the formulation of its own plan for the sale of the government-owned fleet.

Commissioner Meyer Lissner, chairman of the committee, said the plan will be ready for submission to the whole board when Chairman Lasker returns from Florida, where he is a member of President Harding's vacation party. Lissner indicated, however, that some of the general principles of the proposed scheme still are far from settled.

The council of American shipbuilders, last of the organizations asked to submit views as to the best method of disposing of the ships, presented its reply through a committee headed by Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company.

The shipyard men had not made formal reply to the committee questionnaire. The shipbuilders were inclined to agree, however, with the assertions of the American Steamship Owners' association and United States Ship Operators' association, that it was doubtful whether any considerable number of the vessels could be sold with a guarantee on the part of the purchaser to maintain the service on a specified route for a term of years.

Only by giving preferential treatment to American shipping, Mr. Ferguson declared, could it be made sufficiently attractive to warrant the investment of the considerable sum of money that would be required for the purchase and operation for a term of years of any large number of the government ships.

Mr. Ferguson advocated a program of preferential treatment as follows: Extension of the coastwise laws to the Philippine trade, which would bar foreign vessels; reduced railroad rates on through shipments for export and import in American bottoms; abrogation of the commercial treaties standing in the way of preferential treatment in tonnage taxes and discriminating customs duties, and free or lower tolls to American vessels using the Panama canal.

The only one of these suggestions which it is believed there is any possibility of being adopted at this time is the extension of the coastwise laws to the Philippines. Under the Jones act the president is directed to proclaim this extension when he determines there is sufficient American tonnage to adequately provide for the service. There is no doubt of the adequacy of the tonnage now and President Harding is understood to be seriously considering the issuance of such a proclamation.

WOMAN LEAPS FROM RIVER BRIDGE TO DEATH—IS UNKNOWN

Cleveland, March 30.—An unidentified woman, aged about 24, jumped from the Rocky River bridge to her death one hundred feet below today. Her body, the features mangled beyond recognition, landed on the rocky shore of the river. Two pedestrians who saw the suicide, made a vain attempt to reach her as she climbed the bridge railing.

The body was taken later to an undertaking establishment. The only clue that may lead to the identification of the woman were the initials R. F. to M. B. found inside a wedding ring on her finger.

The death leap occurred as hundreds of motorists were hurrying to the city and within a few minutes the bridge was jammed with cars, while the occupants watch officers retrieve the body from the shore.

The body landed within a few feet of Henry Soder, who has a fish tug dock below the bridge.

"I heard a swishing sound, looked up, saw the woman falling, then heard a thud. She died instantly as she struck the ground," Soder said.

The woman was about 5 feet, 4 inches tall and weighed about 130 pounds. A purse containing $5.05 was found in a pocket.

SCORE ARE INJURED IN BIG FIRE IN NEW YORK

Six Firemen Injured When Wall Falls — Million Dollar Blaze Threatens Bellevue Hospital.

New York, March 30.—One fireman was fatally injured, 11 were injured and eight other persons were hurt in a million dollar fire early today that destroyed the Madison Square West Wash Laundry, a few doors from Bellevue Hospital, where 2,000 patients are under treatment.

The eight other injured were spectators who were hit by brick and slabs of mortar from the falling walls. Fireman Job V. Spanier suffered a fractured skull and died in a hospital.

DUAL LIFE ENDS IN MURDER AND SUICIDE IN NEW YORK OFFICE

Daughter of Wealthy Importer Shoots Contractor and Then Ends Own Life—Tragedy Brings Story of Illicit Romance.

New York, March 30.—Learning that the man she loved was married and her unwillingness to give him up, caused Miss Helene Zeigler, 26 year old daughter of an exporter to mortally wound Frederick W. Burham, wealthy contractor and then kill herself in his office in the Grand Central Terminal building yesterday, police believe today.

Burham died early today in the hospital.

Friends of Burham knew of an affair he had with a young woman, they told police and had heard the handsome contractor express fear he would be killed.

Miss Zeigler went to Burham's office, waited until he finished talking business with another man and then went in. They closed the door. Harry S. Cox, Burham's office manager, heard their voices get louder and louder as they talked until he could tell they were quarreling. Then he heard two shots. He ran down stairs and summoned assistance and when he got back, pushed the door open.

Miss Zeigler went to Burham's office, waited until he finished talking business with another man and then went in. They closed the door. Harry S. Cox, Burham's office manager, heard their voices get louder and louder as they talked until he could tell they were quarreling. Then he heard two shots. He ran down stairs and summoned assistance and when he got back, pushed the door open.

The girl lay on the floor. A bullet in her right temple brought instant death. Near her lay Burham with a wound in his left temple. Some blood was on his vest and shirt.

Cox was greatly excited when questioned by police. He said he did not go in the office when he heard the shots, because he did not want to "take a chance on her shooting me."

Police believe neither Mrs. Burham nor Miss Zeigler were aware of the other's existence until a few days ago when a whirlwind of revelations and circumstances swept the two families into the tragedy.

Mrs. Burham is said to have told her husband, when she learned about his friendship with Miss Zeigler, that he would have to make his choice between them.

The contractor had confided to friends that he "was going to have it out" with the beautiful brunette.

The girl also was resolved to "have it out"; she went prepared either to win one heart or bury two, police believe.

"She did not do that," Mrs. Zeigler's mother sobbed. The Zeiglers believe the two were only casual friends. They had always thought of the dashing contractor as a cheerful bachelor, affable and good company.

Burham's friends told police an old, old story, leading to the double tragedy. Mrs. Burham did not like gay life.

The good looking contractor did and he acquired a habit several years ago of coming into the city from his beautiful home in Dobbs Ferry to seek entertainment and relaxation.

TWENTY INJURED AS TRAIN CRASHES WITH AUTO NEAR COLUMBUS

OCCUPANTS OF MACHINE KILLED INSTANTLY

Engineer, Fireman and Passengers Among Victims of Fatal Collision—Greenville Student Among Injured Rushed to Columbus Hospitals

Columbus, Mar. 30.—Six persons were killed and not less than 14 persons were hurt here this morning when Big Four passenger train number 11, enroute to this city from Cleveland, struck an automobile at Oakland Park Avenue, North Columbus. The dead are:

Mrs. Frank S. Hemminger, 27, Columbus; Robert Hemminger, 5, son of Mrs. Hemminger; Horace Holbrook, Warren, O., publisher; John Clee, Cleveland, fireman; Earl Wilson, fireman, Columbus.

Among those injured are: Mary Catherine Johnson, Columbus; Ensign Andrew Green, Cleveland; Dorothy Concock, Greenville, Ohio; arm burned; W. E. Green, Troy, N. C.; Cincinnati, back crushed and skull fractured; S. L. Nelson, 23, B-waldinham, Maine; cut over eye and bruised; Robert Henderson, colored, Chattanooga, Tenn., expected to die; Helen Wheeler, Mount Pleasant, Tenn., slightly hurt; F. H. Hiles, Cincinnati; Captain J. E. Covington, Fort Ontario, Oswego, N. Y.; C. H. Lewis, Boston, not badly hurt; Mrs. Vinita Onackenhush, Schenectady, N. Y.; Miss Mary A. O'Hara, Syracuse, N. Y.; Allen Thomas, colored, Pullman porter, New York City, not seriously hurt.

Search is being made through the wreckage for the bodies of one or two other persons thought to have been killed.

Mrs. Hemminger, wife of a local attorney, and her two children, were in the automobile. They were instantly killed. It is thought that a brother of Mrs. Hemminger was in the automobile and that his body may be in the wreckage.

The train, because of being late is said to have been running at a speed of 70 miles an hour.

The wrecked machine was carried a block on the engine, where the engine, tender and four sleeping coaches were overturned.

Of the injured passengers, about 10 sustained injuries sufficiently serious to warrant sending them to local hospitals.

Uncertainty surrounds the details of the accident. No one has been found who saw the collision.

Every car of the train was derailed, excepting the rear trucks of the last coach.

The derailment was caused by a part of the wrecked auto falling between one of the engine trucks and the rails.

The first coach turned over to the left and buckled. It was in this that Holbrook was killed. The second coach fell over to the right, the derailed train tore up the tracks for a distance of about 200 yards. The engine landed upside down in a 20 foot ditch separating the Big Four and Pennsylvania railroad tracks.

Nearly all the injured passengers were in the first coach.

The fact that all the coaches were of steel construction is believed to be the only thing that saved the lives of many of the passengers as the force of the impact when the cars were overturned is believed to have been sufficient to have completely wrecked the cars had they been of wooden construction.

Big Four railroad officials who inspected the wreckage expressed belief that the accident was due to negligence on the part of the person driving the automobile.

He pointed out that there is a clear vision of the crossing for at least 300 yards. These officials believe the auto driver failed to watch out for the train.

A number of passengers reported losing valuables.

The wrecked auto is said to have been carried the length of a city block on the engine pilot.

The train enroute to this city from Cleveland, is one of the finest on the Big Four railroad. It is said the train was moving at the rate of 70 miles an hour when the accident occurred. It is said there were over 100 passengers.

DONAHEY TELLS 2 REPUBLICANS TO LEAVE JOBS

Columbus, O., March 30.—Governor Donahey, in a letter addressed to George T. Poor, Cincinnati, and Frank B. Mauler, Chillicothe, Republican members of the State Utilities Commission, asked them last night to resign, so that he might appoint a new commission in accord with his own policies.

Neither Poor or Mauler, whose terms of office do not expire until 1927, are expected to resign. Governor Donahey tried to replace Charles Marshall, Democratic member of the commission, whose term expired in February by appointing William A. Hopkins, Cincinnati, in his place, but the Senate refused to confirm the appointment, and Marshall is still in office.

Members of the Utilities Commission are appointed for a six year term, and cannot be removed except for cause.

FILM FOLK OWE DEBT TO PUBLIC' AVERS SCHENCK

Los Angeles, March 30.—Motion picture stars owe a great personal debt to the public—a greater one perhaps than they ever will be able to pay.

Thus does Joseph M. Schenck, maker of silver screen stars, view the relationship of film luminaries to their patrons.

"There is that unbeatable law of compensation," Schenck declared in an exclusive statement to International News Service. "No one ever got anything without paying for it, and the motion picture stars pay and pay dearly for the glory they receive from the public when elevated to picture stardom.

"No producer nor a dozen managers can really make a film star popular with the motion picture going public. The particular person has to be endowed with individuality, ability and the happy faculty of making himself popular. When they have these endowments and are elevated to a place in the minds and hearts of people all over the world they have to pay for them. They owe something in return to the public and must recognize it.

NEVER CAN REPAY

"They can't pay their obligation in dollars and cents," Schenck went on after a pause, "but they can—in fact, they must—show their appreciation through their behavior—the manner in which they spend their hours and conduct themselves while off the screen.

"The public elects picture stars to be favorites just as it elects men and women to serve in public office. Any public office holder has constantly got to be on his guard to not make a 'miss-step,' and the same applies to people who appear in motion pictures. They owe it. They know it, and every one will tell you they are trying to pay it."

"Some people present the argument that the public in general does not care what sort of a private life the star leads, so long as he or she satisfies it while on the screen," it was suggested to the movie magnate. "Indeed, it does care," he declared. "The public thinks more of their private life than it does of their appearance on the screen, because it knows when they are before the camera they are presenting their 'best.' There are thousands—millions would be better—of young girls throughout the world that select one feminine star and literally model their very lives and appearances after her fashion.

ARE YOUTHFUL HEROES

"The public perhaps doesn't realize when considering the private life of a picture actor or actress that he or she is elevated to a pedestal of virtue at a comparatively young age—say, 24 or 26 years. On the contrary a public office holder is not selected until he has attained a full majority of at least 35 years. In our younger years we all do a lot of things we should not and do not do a lot of things we should. This should be recognized when criticizing stars.

"The foremost purpose of motion pictures today is to entertain," Schenck declared, "and everything else—education, money making and the so-called message of the actors and actresses to the public—are secondary in purpose."

FLOWERS ARE IN MILADY'S CORSAGE PROFUSION FOR

As a final touch to a perfect Easter outfit, a cluster of colorful spring flowers, always receives a ready patronage upon the part of the feminine public, and as a thoughtful gift for Easter Sunday, an equal of spring blossoms has never been found.

As a glad word after the trying months of winter, and as a herald to spring, local florists are announcing that Easter flowers are now in profusion, for the Easter shopper.

After several months of cloudy, cold weather, when blossoms were scarce for florists to purchase even from hothouses, the first rays of the spring sunshine has caused an increase in the lots received.

The tall, graceful, sweetly perfumed Easter lily still holds a reign of popularity among the shoppers for Easter flowers. The waxy blossoms, symbols of the Easter tide, can be purchased from local florists at from $4.00 up a dozen.

Ranking next in popularity, comes the yellow daffodils, and jonquils, narcissus, carnations, roses, sweet peas, and violets. Jasminals and daffodils are priced in local shops at from $1.50 a dozen up carnations at the same price, and roses at $3.00 a dozen and up, according to the length of the stems.

ROTARY MAGAZINE CARRIES ARTICLE REGARDING NAMING OF INFANT AFTER RUSSEL F. GREINER FORMER XENIAN

The "Buzz Saw", official publication of the Rotary Club of Kansas City, Mo., of which Russell F. Greiner former Xenian, is president, carried the following story in the current issue concerning the honor conferred upon Mr. Greiner by a woman in Virginia, who named a newly born infant after the Rotary head. The story follows:

"While life in many respects is the same today as it was when old King Toor was dodging his creditors and his step-mother, certain phenomena like the radio makes it seem different in the time of the Pharos the foolish practice of crime, if you will, of hopeful mothers naming their little off-springs after some celebrity was first begun and it seems that the same methods of choosing names for this generation is still in vogue. An instance of this has just come to light and as it affects the club and all of us indirectly we believe you should know about it.

"You of course know that our president took a large part in the Radio anniversary program sponsored by the international office at Chicago. Russ made a very good radio speech and otherwise conduct himself in commendable manner. A few days after it was all over a letter was received here from Mrs. T. L. Sproule of Vinton, Va., announcing that she had just named a very young son of hers and had selected the name of Russell Greiner because she had been permitted to hear our president speak over the radio in the anniversary program. Now she didn't admit, unfortunately, just why she should participate in this newest crime wave so we can only surmise and in our surmises we may find the answer.

"It hardly seems possible that this great honor was bestowed upon Russ because of his architectural of symmetric beauty. There was Adonis and Apollo and many other mythical peacocks you know who some think had it all over Russ and who are always available for name making purposes. This is bum surmise for when we think about it seriously we felt sure that Russell's slight Semitic cast of countenance and that middle-age bulge which he is now affecting would forever preclude him were

Easter Footwear for the Children

In choosing children's Easter footwear, one should always take into consideration the very definite economy to be gained through getting shoes of the better quality, which save for you through longer wear—

And you should not overlook the very important fact that the life-long foot ailments which often result from cheap, poorly made shoes, can be entirely avoided by getting the better grade, in which skilled workmanship assures shape-retention and proper foot support.

The "health insurance" of better shoes costs very little when compared to the protection it affords delicate, growing feet.

HARDING'S TWO YEARS IN FOUR PARAGRAPHS.

It is an axiom oft repeated and oft proved by the progress of events that the happiest peoples have the least history. Years of peace and prosperity are held to be uneventful. Historians concern themselves chiefly with revolutions, international wars and intrigue in high places. Judged by these standards, the first two years of the Harding administration can be written in four paragraphs. One would refer to the treaty of peace between the United States and Germany. The second would signal the negotiation of the treaties of Washington and the successful issue of the conference for the limitation of armaments. A third would relate to the Central American conference held in Washington last month, and the last would record the prosperity of the United States as compared to the political and economic chaos in Europe. Those things are not colorful; not one is stained with human blood, and yet they are things that reflect the highest credit like on the government and people of the United States.

HARK, FROM THE TOMBS COME DOLEFUL CRIES.

Speaking Monday evening at a banquet of the Florida State Bar Association, where, due to the latitude, it was considered appropriate to deliver a partisan Democratic harangue, former Governor James M. Cox declared that the United States "was not enjoying the fruits of peace" because the American government had made a "craven and cowardly retreat from our responsibilities, and abandonment as well of the principles for which our heroic soldiers died."

This sounds like a left-over stump speech from Mr. Cox's 1920 campaign. Has Governor Cox so soon forgotten the verdict rendered by the American people upon such sentiments a little more than two years ago? Has he overlooked the fact that running on that sort of platform he received the worst "trimming" ever administered to a Democratic candidate for President since the birth of the party?

What sort of peace "fruit" does Governor Cox think the American people are missing? The kind they are eating in Europe, under the blight of the stupid and disastrous peace treaty President Wilson helped to write, and which intelligent commentators the world over now agree is directly responsible for the failure of Europe to progress toward normalcy?

If there has been a "craven and cowardly retreat from our responsibilities" in Europe, whatever they may be in the opinion of our pro-Europeans, then the American people are the cravens and towards responsible for the failure to involve this country in Europe's continued bankruptcy and bloodshed. After the booting Governor Cox received at the polls on his program of European entanglement, he may have a very poor opinion of the intelligence and courage of the American people, but he is not going to get anywhere politically by abusing his countrymen and defaming his country.

THE COMING SANTIAGO CONFERENCE.

That part of the agenda of the Pan American Conference in Santiago, Chile, proposed by the program committee, headed by the American Secretary of State, forecasts an interesting session. The personnel of the delegation which sailed recently to represent the United States, indicates the assured interest of the Washington government in the conference, regarding which some of the Central and South American countries had seemed to be in doubt. Henry P. Fletcher, Ambassador to Belgium, who will act as chairman of the delegation, has long been familiar with industrial, commercial and social conditions in the southern republics. He goes to Santiago equipped with first-hand knowledge of the affairs to be discussed, and backed, as well, by a delegation composed of men of long experience in dealing with international problems.

Even with the enforced absence of Secretary Hughes, who found it impossible to be absent from Washington long enough to open the conference, the United States will be adequately represented. The official roster of the delegation includes, besides the name of Mr. Fletcher, those of Frank B. Kellogg, of Minnesota and Atlee Pomeroy of Ohio, senators who retired March 4; Willard Saulsbury, former Senator from Delaware; George E. Vincent, of New York; Frank C. Partridge, of Vermont; William H. Fowler, of Washington, D. C., and Dr. L. S. Rowe, director of the Pan-American Union.

Even though there may not at once be realized that complete political accord among the nations which is sought after and idealized, there is bound to be forged and solidified among nations which see singly and hold fast to a common ideal, a bond of brotherhood which cannot be severed by any unrepresentative or self-seeking diplomacy. The adhesive and cohesive strength of any league or associations of nations must be measured after all, by the pure quality of that brotherly love which is claims to typify.

THOMAS JEFFERSON—"LEST WE FORGET."

Thomas Jefferson, signer of the Declaration of Independence, from Virginia, was born at Shadwell, Albemarle county, Va., in 1743. After attending a preparatory school, he completed his education at William and Mary College. He was an industrious scholar, fond of literature and mathematics. He played well on the violin. At 17 he was tall, raw-boned, freckle-faced, sandy-haired, with large feet and hands, prominent cheek bones and chin, athletic, strong and awkward. He was very fond of horses and hunting. He studied law under George Wythe, at Williamsburg, and was admitted to the bar in 1767. In May, 1769, he became a member of the House of Burgesses, with George Washington. In 1772 he married Mrs. Martha Skelton, a widow without children, thus adding 40,000 acres of land to the 1,900 inherited from his father, and 135 slaves to the 30 he already possessed. His wife died two years, later, leaving two little girls. In 1775 Jefferson became a member of Congress. During the following summer he drew up the Declaration of Independence, which, after a few alterations, was adopted. In June, 1779, he was elected governor of Virginia, and when Tarleton and Arnold invaded the state he was made an object of particular pursuit. In the summer of 1784 he became minister to France, and upon his return, Washington, appointed him Secretary of State. In 1793 he retired to Monticello. His retirement ended March 4, 1801, when he entered the White House, and served as President until 1809. He died July 4, 1826, aged 83.

SEEING HIMSELF IN THE BOSS' CLOTHES

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

Dr. A. D. DeHaven today withdrew his name as a candidate on the Independent ticket for member of the Board of Public Service.

The Gazette job room is turning out election ballots in large quantities and among these being printed is one lot for Switzerland and another lot for Jerusalem—both in Monroe County, Ohio.

Mr. E. E. Story, who has been acting as superintendent of the County Children's Home has announced his intention of resigning that position, within the next few days. Mr. and Mrs. Story will go to Lancaster, Ohio, where they will have charge of a cottage at the Boy's Reformatory.

A new poultry establishment will be started in Xenia by Mr. J. W. Salmons, who will engage in the business of buying poultry and eggs and butter in Xenia for the purpose of shipping it to Eastern markets.

DONAHEY ADVISES EMBRYO LAWYERS

Governor Vic Donahey has written to Foran M. Handrick, of Cleveland Ohio, the President of the Ohio Law Club in Georgetown Law School, advising law students regarding their preparations for the practice of law. The Governor says:

"If I were to advise a young lawyer, it would be along the following lines: I would advise that he try at all times to maintain poise and balance. It is so easy to wobble to the right or left. Energy, practically applied, will produce results for any young man. In the last analysis a young man must have absolute control over himself, and should never forget that the interchange of ideas is a great educator and the habit of being a good listener, with proper associations, will make a man out of an ordinary fellow.

Wishing you, and your friends, the highest success in your chosen profession, I beg to remain."

The Club meets regularly for the study of the statutes and decisions of Ohio, and in preparation for the Ohio State Bar examination.

THINGS YOU LONG FOR

Most of the things we long for most lose their attraction as they come to our grasp.

And much that we have hoped for during a long period, gradually is absorbed by the interests of life itself, as we find out new things and learn to forget!

So that it is well not to let disappointments linger too long.

You are able to grow right up and through your longings.

But there should never come a period in your life when you are without longings. They are as essential to a happy experience as exercise is to a healthy body.

Do not brood over losses. What is gone, is gone. That is the first fact to face in such an emergency. The next fact to face really becomes a condition—what are you going to do about it?

Another thing—our viewpoints change. The things we longed for in youth—and missed—we rarely long for in maturity. But it is because of these very longings that we are blessed with happier longings after youth has been served.

The boy who wanted to be a doctor turns out to be a lawyer or a merchant prince. And his longings then take the direction of his interests.

But it is with the longings of the spirit that we are most concerned. Because it is through them that character is best developed.

You may be tied to what seems to you a dire necessity of duty. You feel bound and cramped. Your spirit rises in revolt and falls in humble submission. But your soul fairly leaps in growth!

ST. PIERRE NOW OFFICIAL HAVEN OF RUM FLEETS

St. Pierre, Miquelon, March 30.—The Miquelons, a minute island group off the southern coast of Newfoundland, one-time proudest possession of France in the New World, are again coming into their own. Headlines in the daily papers again mention the tiny group—but for a sadly different reason than was their oldtime fame.

Practically every rum runner captured off the American coast today shows on its clearance papers that St. Pierre, Miquelon, is its "official destination." And yet the world hardly knows of the existence of the little archipelago.

WAS ONCE LEADING PORT
Forty years ago St. Pierre, capital of the islands, was the leading fishing port of the world. Today it is striving little parish clinging desperately to the customs of old France. It is a gray village, with a glorious past and no apparent future. A quarter of the houses are vacant, and the quays once thronged with vessels whose yardarms interlocked, now have but a sprinkling of ships, even at the height of the fishing season.

Crushed and buffeted about during the struggle between France and England for supremacy in the New World, the Miquelons are today paying the price for allegiance to the vanquished. The Miquelons after Canada was ceded to victorious Britain were returned to France as a "consolation prize" the little islands to serve as a base on this side of the Atlantic for the great fishing industry built up by the French.

The Miquelon Archipelago consists of Grand Miquelon, some 12 miles long by 6 wide; Petite Miquelon or Longlade, a trifle smaller, and St. Pierre, only 7 miles by 2. In addition there are a number of tiny rocky islets of little importance. St. Pierre though the smallest of the three major islands, has always been the center of population because of its harbor. In its heyday the little town was covered with handsome residences and there was a social life that made St. Pierre a miniature Paris.

FISHING TRADE RUINED
But the Miquelon's prosperity and gaiety were cut short by a prosaic "factor-bait." Affairs of Empire in 1904 moved statesmen in Paris to sell the French treaty rights to catch small fish for some millions of francs and territory in Africa. The Newfoundland fishermen, long jealous of their French rivals, seized their chance and jammed through the "bait act," which prohibited the sale of bait to alien vessels and thus did the Miquelons' wane.

The picture today is a sad one. The population has dropped from 6,000 to less than 3,000 and the thousands of fishermen who thronged the streets of St. Pierre in the fishing season are missing. And yet despite misfortune the tiny village struggles valiantly to clinging to the remnants of the past. A visitor stepping ashore at St. Pierre enters France as truly as though he were disembarking at Calais or Bordeaux. The language of the populace is surprisingly pure and free from patois. Wooden houses, with characteristic French windows and roofs, line the streets. Natives chatter back and forth in wooden-soled shoes. Hucklester children, quaintly dressed, peddle strings of cod-tongues from little wagons drawn by patient dogs. On every hand are shrines testifying to the religious nature of the Miquelons.

And this is the picture of the Miquelons, one time most famous fishing center of the world—today, the "official destination" of rum runners.

TEXAS BOYS 'BUM' WAY 9,000 MILES

New York March 30.—"If you were born and reared in Alaska it's all right to travel the way we did in mid-winter, but if your home is in the sunny South wait until Spring or Summer," advise Thomas Turner and Arthur Trollo, of San Antonio, Texas, who recently completed a trip of nearly nine thousand miles—without a cent to start on.

Turner is the son of a Texas cotton broker and Trollo of a San Antonio merchant.

The two young Texans, each 18, started for New York, via the "side door Pullman" route, in the middle of Winter, sans cash, and with their stock in trade a desire to see the world.

The weather was balmy in the historic Alamo city, but far from it in New York, where they arrived after much duress.

Their first impulse on arrival was to keep going. It was too chilly to stand still.

They shipped aboard the United States Shipping Board freighter Eastern Tempest, bound for Hull, England. Passing through terrific storms they reached the English port, spent a week there, and then steamed to Brest, France. At that port they left the ship long enough to spend a day in Paris.

The return voyage was more troublous than the outgoing one. The vessel was a mass of ice when she reached New York.

During one of the worst storms Trollo ventured on deck and came near losing his life when he was swept overboard.

Seizing a rope just as he felt himself slipping he was swung clear of the deck and over the side of the vessel. Washed back, he was hurled against the side of the cabin and received minor injuries.

Both boys have decided to abandon globe-trotting.

BOND HOLDERS LOSE BIG SUM IN INTEREST

Washington, March 30.—Holders of the victory notes which were called for redemption by the treasury last Dec. 15, have lost an aggregate of more than $1,000,000 in interest, according to a statement today by Acting Secretary Gilbert who declared that more than $80,000,000 of those notes remain outstanding and their owners are losing interest at the rate of $10,000 a day.

Several opportunities have been given the holders of victory notes, both those which were called Dec. 15 and those which mature May 20, to exchange their securities for fresh issues of government paper, or for cash, but the amounts turned in have been surprisingly small. Mr. Gilbert said the condition of the treasury was such that it not only was anxious to retire those notes already called for redemption but any part of the $820,000,000 in outstanding victory notes due to mature May 20.

In retiring the uncalled notes, the treasury announced it will receive them at par and adjust the interest to the date of the redemption. These notes bear the distinguishing letters G, H, I, J, K and L, while the notes already called and on which the interest ceased Dec. 15 bear the letters A, B, C, D, E and F.

"THE CHARM SCHOOL" CAPABLY PRESENTED BY CENTRAL HIGH JUNIORS THURSDAY NIGHT

The Junior Class of Central High School scored an enormous hit Thursday night in its excellent initial presentation of "The Charm School," a fascinating comedy by Alice Duer Miller and Robert Milton, at City Hall Theater.

"The Charm School" is a sparkling mirth-producing play, with a well-woven plot. It relates the adventures of a handsome automobile salesman, scarcely out of his teens, who upon inheriting a girls boarding school from a maiden aunt, insists on running it himself, according to his own ideas, chief of which is that the dominant feature in the education of the young girl of today should be charm. The situations that arise are teeming with clean wholesome humor. In the end the young man gives up the school and promises to wait until the most precocious of his pupils reaches a marriage age.

Under the capable supervision of Miss Joan B. Elwell, directress, the cast emerged from the mediocre quality of the average amateur performance and acquired the aplomb of finished artists. Her untiring efforts have produced a class play which is of extraordinary merit. Each character showed the touch of Miss Elwell's genius.

The leading roles were excellently carried by Miss Henrietta Monroe and Dale Washburn. The latter portrayed the character of Austin Bevis, who inherited the girls boarding school. The part requires versatility in acting and he carried the difficult role splendidly.

Opposite him, Miss Monroe as Elise Chelloner, furnished charm and vivacity. She carried her part with finesse and charm well equalling that of the leading male character.

Dave McKenzie and George Boyd, with Jim and Tim, the humor-provoking couple, who were professors of charm, contributed comedy and diversion. These parts were well played by Arthur Currie, David Doggett, Tim Conklin and Robert Stevens. The difficult part, the irate uncle was ably portrayed by Cleophos Woods.

Lucille Denham and Harriet Keller were splendid in their parts as instructors in the school. Dorothy Hickman in the role of Sally Boy carried that lead excellently. Eight other girls as students of the charm school had no difficulty in charming their audience.

The cast:

XENIA SCHOOL HEAD TO ADDRESS MEET

C. A. Waltz, city superintendent of schools, will appear on the program of the Third Annual Educational Conference which will be conducted by the College of Education, Ohio State University, at Columbus, April 5, 6 and 7. Mr. Waltz will address the sectional meeting dealing with Educational and Intelligence Tests. His subject will be "Four Years of Mental Testing in a City School System."

More than 4,000 Ohio schoolmen are expected to attend the Conference. Practically the entire plant of the University will be in use the second day of the Conference, April 6, when the sectional meetings, touching on 25 different phases of education, will get under way.

In addition to the numerous Ohio school people who will appear on the sectional and general programs, twelve educators of national reputation will address the Conference. Prominent among these speakers are: W. C. Bagley and S. S. Colvin of Teachers' College, Columbia University; C. H. Judd, the University of Chicago, and G. A. Works, Cornell University.

MRS. MARY A. TILLOTSON, COLUMBUS, O.

Recovers from Long Illness Due to Stomach Trouble and Rheumatism by Taking Ka-di-ok.

"I hardly believe I would be alive today if it was not for Ka-di-ok. It has practically given me a new lease of life," says Mrs. Mary A. Tillotson, a well-known Columbus woman, residing at 481 E. Livingston Avenue, to the Ka-di-ok expert a few days ago. Further continuing, Mrs. Tillotson said: "For over a year I was laid up with stomach trouble and rheumatism and for several months lived entirely on a milk or bread-and-milk diet, as I could not keep anything else on my stomach; I was in such a bad condition that I could scarcely walk across the room. Sometimes there would be large knots in my limbs, caused by rheumatism, which caused the intense pain and suffering. I had no idea of getting better, but acting on the advice of a friend I was induced to start taking Ka-di-ok. It was certainly a wonderful thing for me when I did so. After a few weeks' treatment I am now able to eat any food that appeals to me and have no distress afterwards. I am getting stronger every day and am now doing my housework. I recently walked several blocks, something I have not been able to do in months, as I have been practically bed-ridden. Ka-di-ok is the finest remedy in the world and has made me feel like a new woman."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store, Xenia.

Preceding the presentation of the play, Robert Owens, class president, gave a clever talk, introducing the play of the class. Music for the program was furnished by a group of local musicians. The class play, an annual feature of the junior year dramatic program, will be repeated Friday night. The theater was practically filled for the opening performance Thursday night.

THE BLUE DANUBE WALTZ

The Blue Danube Waltz was written by Johann Strauss, born in Vienna, Austria, 1825 and died in 1899. One of the best known composers of light music in Austria in the present century. Originally composed for a male quartet, this waltz is much more familiar in America in various arrangements for piano and small orchestras. The waltz is the favorite dance form of Austria and was, during the imperial government, the only form of dance permitted in the Vienna court. In many ways the Blue Danube Waltz is the most popular waltz ever composed. The Danube is a beautiful and historic river of great importance to the Austrians and of historical interest to students. This composition won for Strauss the title of "Waltz King."

REGULATES INDIAN DANCING.

LONDON BUS WAR IS WAXING WARM

London, March 30.—Wars, rumors of wars and threats of wars are becoming stale topics in London conversation, but occasionally some new "war scare" comes along that arouses interest.

For the moment the popular "war" is London's "bus war."

The General Omnibus Company has for years operated its buses on the Streets of London without competition. In the last six months at least four independent bus lines have opened up in competition and now there is a "bus war" on.

The new buses find that they have an unwelcome escort. For every independent bus operating on the street there is a flotilla of General Omnibus Company buses to act as escort. The independent bus man finds himself sandwiched in between a fleet of big red buses, and he has traffic troubles and is generally beaten to the passenger stop, so that his customers are few.

Public sympathy seems to be in favor of the independent buses, however and they are managing to exist.

Lord Ashfield, head of the London transportation combine, who once "smashed baggage" in America, is quite excited and peevish about the "bus war." He warmly defends the tactics which his company has put in force to wipe out competing buses.

"Small omnibus companies have never shared the burden of the day," Lord Ashfield says. "They did nothing to the transport facilities of London."

The Original Food-Drink for All Ages. Quick Lunch at Home Office & Restaurants. Rich Milk, Malted Grain Extract in Powder. Tablets form. Nourishing—No cooking. Avoid Imitations and Substitutes.

They seek the dense routes of traffic and run their omnibuses with a view to serving their own selfish interests. The private omnibus owner has less responsibility than a taxi driver. It must be a survival of the fittest.

FAVORS STATE OFFICE BUILDING

Columbus, March 30.—The house finance committee reported out, with recommendation for passage, the bill by Representative Hunt of Lucas county, providing for the creation of a state commission to supervise the erection of a new state office building, in which will be housed all the departments and offices not now located in the state capitol. At present these offices are scattered over many sections of Columbus and much inconvenience and confusion results.

OIL HOLDINGS OF JOHN D. JR.

New York, March 30.—The holdings of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in the various Standard Oil companies, just made public in an analysis of testimony of a recent investigation in the senate, show that the "crown prince" of the oil industry has an annual income of approximately $12,000,000 from this source alone. The present market value of these holdings of young Mr. Rockefeller is approximately $410,000,000.

MRS. ALSTON ELLIS DEAD.

GOOD FRIDAY IS COMMEMORATED IN XENIA CHURCHES

Not less a fixed event than Easter is Good Friday, commemorative of the day of the Crucifixion and observed on the Friday immediately preceding the Easter Festival.

Increasing importance has been attached by Christian communities in later years to Long, or Good or God's Friday as it is variously known. It is probably, as the day on which Christ offered up his life for the redemption of the world, the most sacred and solemn of the Christian year.

In most of the churches on that day the altars are stripped of all decorations, the Crosses are draped in purple and the hangings are of a similar somber hue, and the day is given over largely by the devout to prayer and meditation. This note of sacredness and solemnity is reflected even in the affairs of the secular world, many of the States of the Union, in deference to its deeply religious significance, having made it a legal holiday. The custom of celebrating the day is involved in obscurity, except for the fact that it is the day on which Christ was nailed to the Cross on the Hill of Golgotha, but from the earliest times, every Friday among Christians, has been regarded as a fast day, as every Sunday has been a feast day and the connection between the one as marking the day of Crucifixion and the other as marking the day of Resurrection, is easily traced.

A number of Xenia City Churches will observe Good Friday with evening services, many of the meetings being in preparation for the larger services Sunday. At the Second United Presbyterian Church, the Rev. W. P. Harriman, of the Cedarville Reformed Presbyterian Church, will take the place of the pastor, the Rev. C. P. Prouditt, in a sermon at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Harriman's sermon will be followed by a rally of the Young People of the church, for a "pep" meeting at the First U. P. Church. The meeting will be addressed by John Baletyne, president of the National Young People's Society, who will attend the convention at Sterling, Kansas, during the summer. A social meeting will follow the program.

Another meeting will be held at the Second U. P. Church Saturday afternoon at one thirty o'clock, when the Rev. S. R. Jamieson of Sugar Creek United Presbyterian Church will address the congregation. The meeting is another preparatory service for Easter in the church.

Members who are contemplating joining with the First Reformed Church will meet in the church auditorium, Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, with the Rev. E. W. Middleton.

Services will be held at Christ Episcopal Church, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Litany will be said, followed by a discussion of the subject: "Atonement." This will be the last of the series of weekly Lenten services.

The Rev. E. B. Uhl, pastor of the First Lutheran Church will preach one of a series of three sermons, Friday night, in commemoration of Good Friday.

The series of evangelistic services at the Friends church will continue Friday evening with regular evening sermon by the pastor the Rev. A. J. Furstnberger and Mrs. Ola Oatley, his assistant.

The Rev. Father C. L. Davis, of Aquinas College, Columbus, told a congregation that practically filled St. Francis Church Holy Thursday night of the "Passion of Christ" in the final of a series of sermons, he conducted here during the Lenten period, Catholics commemorate the death of Christ Friday with Veneration of the Cross all day and Stations of the Cross Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels, it also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear. adv

ASTER, commemorating to the Christian believer the Resurrection of the Savior of mankind; and, to the secular mind, the formal opening of the spring-time season; but observed as a festival of joy and feasting by both, is the oldest of all the festivals in the Christian calendar. It is the day which marked the beginning of the preaching of the Gospel of Christ. Easter even antedates Christmas as a fixed event; for, while the day of the Resurrection has been observed from the foundation of the Christian religion, it was not until four centuries later that the natal day of Jesus of Nazareth began to be celebrated.

One of the most interesting facts in connection with Easter is that its origin dates back to the old Jewish Feast of the Passover. According to a Church historian: "The first Christians being derived from or intimately connected with the Jewish Church, naturally continued to observe the Jewish festivals, though in new spirit, as commemorative of events of which those had been shadows. The Passover, ennobled by the thought of Christ as the true Pascal Lamb, continued to be celebrated, and became the Christian Easter."

Early differences arose as to the precise day on which the Easter Festival should be observed. In the Jewish calendar the Passover occurs on a fixed day of the month; while the Christians, from the earliest days, assigned the Easter Festival to a fixed day of the week, namely, Sunday, that being the first day of the week and the day, according to Scripture upon which Christ rose from the dead. Astronomical problems of a confusing character were largely responsible for those differences, which continued until the year 325 A. D., when the Council of Nica decreed that everywhere in Christendom Easter should be celebrated on the same day. But it was not until the adoption of the Gregorian Calendar in 1582 that this decree secured anything like general acceptance; and even to this day in the Churches of Greece and Russia as well as in some of the Oriental congregations where the modern calendar has not been accepted. Easter falls sometimes before and sometimes after the date on which the Festival is celebrated by the Western churches.

Surely the sacredness of the glorious Easter Day should prompt every citizen of Xenia City to attend church services. Splendid programs, both musical and ceremonial, have been arranged for you. Even the stranger within our gates will find a ready welcome at any edifice he visits. No matter what your faith, any of the churches whose announcements appear on this page, will have Easter Services that are sure to please you. So go to Church on Easter.

RUSS WOMEN IN FEMINIST MOVE DEMAND RIGHTS

Moscow, Russia, March 30.—The feminist movement in Soviet Russia is gaining strength. A recent meeting here of the Congress of International Working Women was largely attended and discussion revealed a definite program on the part of the leaders along lines calculated to improve the lot of working women of Russia.

The program discussed by the congress proposed measures for the political, cultural and technical education of working women. Speakers strongly urged the women to unite in a fight against vodka and opposition to further war was strongly expressed. The development of family life along communistic lines was advocated a definite proposal for communal kitchens being along the methods advocated.

The slogan of the congress was: "Union of all workers of all countries around the Third Internationale." During the congress the following appeal issued by the Central Department Komintern for Work Among Women was read:

"Mothers and wives and working women of the West will you remain indifferent to the restarting of the deluge of blood? Will you again allow yourselves to be drawn into this false position? Will you in the future bear the chains which capitalism puts upon you? Will you allow the bourgeois to mark your children for hunger and death? No comrades! On this our proletarian international day proclaim your readiness to fight with the workmen for freedom!"

SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE SHOWS NEED OF BETTER PROVISIONS FOR HOUSING IN LIMITS OF THE CITY

As an example of the need for better housing conditions in Xenia, Mrs. Carrie I. Robertson, secretary of the Social Service League, has cited one of many cases in the city, that has been cared for by the organization, during times of need.

One cold rainy week in February, Mrs. Robertson was called to the East end to see a white family, consisting of a husband, wife and three babies, reported to be in great need. The husband, had been laid off from the railroad, and had been ill, suffering from a severe cough for several weeks. The children had also been ill.

The family live in a house of four rooms, built in a line, the living room was the front room, the best in the house, the kitchen, being the last in the back, making two cold rooms to pass through each time in reaching the kitchen. The arrangement of the home made a great waste of coal, which the City was buying, according to Mrs. Robertson. The room adjacent to the living room which might have been used for a kitchen, thus conserving heat, had most of the plaster off and a bad flue, so the use of the room was out of the question. The kitchen roof was leaking, and the kitchen floor was flooded for several days. The sick husband and children were forced to go into the room to eat.

They are not living in this house from choice," said Mrs. Robertson, "they have been looking for months for something better that they could rent on their income. The League and city furnished food, coal, clothing, and medicine for the family.

The family is only one of many cases in the city, according to Mrs.

Robertson, which can be aided through the support of the public of the Community Chest Drive, which will be renewed in the near future for aiding charity in the city. The Drive was abandoned several months ago, during the epidemic of grip and "flu" in the city, charitable organizations again taking up the work, for the aid of poor families of the town. Further details of the management of the drive will be announced later.

IS AMERICA SEAT OF ANCIENT RACE

Boston, March 30.—You may have a treasure-laden tomb of a king of an era ages older than that of Tut-Ankh-Amen right in your back yard. Under your potato patch or your front porch may rest a sarcophagus of a potentate who ruled centuries before old King Tut was even thought of.

"According to the traditions handed down from centuries and centuries ago by the ancient Yogis," said Yogananda, "far back in the distant ages there was a civilization far in the West—probably on the American continent—long before Egypt be- the characteristics of the ancient Egyptians and the American Indian. It is by no means improbable that the American Indian represents the de- generated race of the ancient culture which existed on this continent. Cer- South American Indians—the Incas, for example, who even at the time of the discovery of this continent main- tained a high type of civilization— bore striking resemblance to the Egyptians—not only in form and fea- ture but in customs.

So that it is highly probable that if the American excavators who dis- covered Tut-Ankh Amen's tomb with its vast treasures, were to dig deep enough right here in the United States they would find similar ones.

ZINNIA ADOPTED AS OFFICIAL FLOWER OF CITY BY CLUB WOMEN

That the Zinnia will be the official flower of Xenia and that "Xenia grows Zinnias" will be adopted as the flower slogan has been definitely decided by the various organization of the city interested in the project.

The matter of an official flower for Xenia has been sponsored by the Current Events club but the other organizations of the city were all asked to submit suggestions and the sentiment was so strongly in favor of the Zinnia is a brilliantly colored, showy flower that makes very pleasing decoration and has the added virtue of being easy to grow. It has a long blooming period and will make the city gay with color throughout the summer and fall.

Seed growers have offered to sell the seeds to the Committee of the Current Events Club at cost and envelopes for the seeds have been donated. It is the plan of the club to sell these packets for 10 cents a packet and the profit will be used to supply the seeds for the grounds of the public buildings and the city parks. The seeds will be sold to all local organizations and individuals and it is hoped to realize enough from their sale to not only make the grounds of the Court House, schools and churches bright with the flowers but also distribute some to persons unable to purchase seeds.

Seeds may be obtained from Mrs. Frank Keyes, West Market Street, Mrs. Harry Whitmer, West Market Street, or Mrs. Charles Kelle, West Church Street.

Members of the committee suggest that if the seeds are planted in the parking space along the curbing the streets of Xenia will during the coming summer be lined with the glowing flowers and every one who visits the city will be impressed with the fact that "Xenia grows Zinnias."

FACTIONALISM IN CHURCH IS ENDED

Cincinnati, O., March 30.—Recent dissensions in the New Thought church which last winter threatened to assume a national aspect, so far as the sect was concerned, were ended with the announcement last night that the majority of the campaign favored the recall of Mrs. Mary Cornell Stoiber, about whom the Schism began, to be leader.

Mrs. Stoiber is one of the national leaders of the denomination. The fight was staid to be one of factionalism in the sect, due to personal factors.

ELOPING COUPLE WEDS.

Toledo, March 30.—While police were combing the city for Miss Erna Marxhausen, 26, said to be a Detroit heiress, and her fiance, Christian Fredericks, 45, also of Detroit, the couple slipped into the Lucas county courthouse and were married by Judge Austin. Police were acting at the request of Mrs. Laura Marxhausen, Miss Erna's mother.

BANCROFT BELIEVES GIANTS WILL REPEAT
MANY HIGH CLASS YOUNGSTERS IN GAME SAYS WALSH
KILBANE MAY BE REINSTATED IN NEW YORK

YOUNGSTERS MAKE GOOD.

By Davis J. Walsh.

New York, March 30.—This apparently is to be a year of high class youngsters in baseball the first since the Federal league combined with an excessively pestiferous world in an attempt to annoy, disturb and otherwise aggravate that laudable institution.

Willie Kamm, for example, is expected to give $100,000 worth of baseball to the Chicago White Sox. Jimmy O'Connell and Jack Bentley, for whom the Giants bade a sad adieu to a matter of $140,000, are naturally looked upon as successful candidates at San Antonio, although neither has got around to being downright convincing about it, as yet. These are rather obvious examples of the rising young men in baseball. The dollar mark is on them and the luxury tax being what it is, the presumption is that hard headed baseball men like McGraw and Comiskey would scarcely pay the price if the players in question were not destined to make the raffle.

Many recruits of more obscure origin have been equally impressive at other camps, however, the majority of them being infielders for no particular reason. A notable example is one Lou Rosenberg, who came up to the White Sox, from the sandlots of Frisco and made good over night. His defensive work around shortstop in the Giant-White Sox series has fairly bristled with class. Another is Travis Jackson, who may beat Johnny Rawlings out of his job as utility infielder with the Giants.

A third is Walter Lutzke from Kansas City of whom Speaker whispers many sweet nothings. Still another plausible looking third baseman is Homer Ezzell, from Shreveport who may catch on with the Browns, to say nothing of Sam Hale, for whom Connie Mack is alleged to have paid $75,000 to Portland, and Walter Riconda, from New Haven.

The Dodgers are at present dallying with a juvenile infield, featuring three recent graduates of the Southern Association. They are Fred Schleibner, of Little Rock, first baseman; Stuffy Stewart, of Birmingham a second baseman, and Bill Muller, of Mobile, a third baseman. All have been stepping high, wide and hand, some at Clearwater and are virtually certain of starting the season as regulars.

The Reds also think rather well of Eddie Hock, an outfielder from Atlanta and Pitcher Roberts, a riot in the Cotton States league; the Indians are sold on Homer Summa, the Texas league outfielder, and Glenn Myatt, the $50,000 catcher from Wilkesboro; the White Sox say that Elsh, their expensive outfield purchase, may oust one of the regulars and Leo Dickerman, right hand pitcher from Memphis, has caught on definitely with the Dodgers, as have Tim Mc Namara and Johnny Cooney, pitchers, with the Braves.

These are said to be the cream, but, for all we know, the milk may taste sweeter in the long run.

Kilbane May Gain Favor

New York, March 30.—Johnny Kilbane and Johnny Wilson, featherweight and middleweight champs, respectively, who are under suspension by the New York State Athletic commission, can gain reinstatement by living up to their "obligations" according to a statement made public today by Chairman William Muldoon.

Both will receive license to box in this state, he declared, if Kilbane will agree to box Johnny Dundee and Wilson will go with his match with Harry Greb.

Cleveland, O., March 30.—"I am ready now as I always have been to meet anyone in the world, in the featherweight class," Johnny Kilbane, world's featherweight champion, told International News Service, today.

commenting on a statement by the New York boxing commission that he can gain reinstatement by meeting Johnny Dundee in a title match. "I have never been offered a chance to meet Dundee, but I'm perfectly willing to do so. No one who can make the limit is for some one to make the match."

Predicts Giant Victory

San Antonio, Tex., March 30.—Dave Bancroft, captain and star shortstop of the New York Giants, today predicted that his club would win the National league pennant for the third straight year as the squad prepared to break camp.

"As far as I can see, there isn't a single reason why we shouldn't make it three in a row," Bancroft said.

Infant League Opens

New York, March 30.—The Atlantic league, an infant baseball organization will open its season May 2, and close on Labor Day, it was announced today, by President Ernest Landgraf, former owner of the Syracuse franchise in the international league.

FORMER PITCHER DYING

Chicago, March 30.—Claude "Lefty" Williams, once famous lefthanded pitcher of the White Sox whose career was wrecked by the 1919 world's series scandal, was lying at the point of death at a hospital here today. He was taken ill with pneumonia four days ago and his condition rapidly grew worse.

TURNED DOWN

PRINCE'S PROPOSAL.

Paris, March 30.—Lady Mary Cambridge, whose engagement to the Marquis of Worcester has just been announced, turned down a proposal of marriage by the Prince of Wales in May of last year, according to gossip in high British society circles in Paris.

RECEIVES WORD OF DEATH OF RELATIVE

Mrs. J. W. Matthews, who resides on the Magruder farm, four and one half miles south of Xenia, received word Friday of the death of her brother-in-law, Charles Bradley, formerly of Bowersville, who died at his home in Springfield, Thursday night at eleven o'clock. Death was caused by high blood pressure, Mr. Bradley having been ill only a few hours.

He is survived by his wife, and two children, Robert and Clarence, of Springfield, and two brothers, Frank Bradley, of Springfield, and John Bradley, whose residence is unknown. His mother, died two weeks ago at Donnelsville, Ohio.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

FOUR STUDENTS SUSPENDED.

Columbus, March 30.—Four students at Ohio State university were suspended for alleged purchase of intoxicating liquors from bootleggers. President Thompson made it plain that violators of the prohibition statutes will be summarily dealt with by the university and that dismissal will be the penalty in every case.

LOCAL MINISTER TO ATTEND MEETING OF LEADING CHURCHMEN

Dr. Charles P. Proudfit, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian Church, has accepted an invitation to go to New York City the second week in April to confer with other Moderators and Presidents of the leading Protestant denominations of America with reference to certain matters to be brought before the various denominations at their annual meetings.

At present Dr. Proudfit is the acting head of the entire United Presbyterian denomination in America, having been elected Vice Moderator, and the Moderator Dr. Giffen having gone to Egypt. It will be incumbent upon the local man to preach the opening sermon at the General Assembly in Buffalo, N. Y. in May and constitute the gathering.

The meeting in New York City in April is called by Robert E. Spear, President of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America and will include Dr. Proudfit as the acting Moderator of the United Presbyterian Church of North America, Dr. Frederick E. Taylor, President of the Northern Baptist Convention, Dr. C. C. Hays, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., Bishop Luther E. Wilson head of the Methodist Episcopal Church, The Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, Presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Dr. T. W. Grafton President of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ, Dr. George W. Richards, President of the Reformed Church in the U. S. and several others.

UNDERTAKERS ARE OPPOSED TO EXHUMING "TUT"

BY CHESTER B. BAHN, Syracuse, N. Y., March 28. — Denouncing as "barbarous and sacrilegious," the efforts of scientists to cause the exhumation of King Tut-Amen's mummy from its 3,000-year resting place in an ancient Egyptian tomb, Syracuse undertakers have raised a storm of protest against disturbing the remains of the famous ruler.

"The movement is the most barbarous I have ever heard of. I see no more reason for placing this relic in a museum than for the exhumation of the bodies of our own heroes, Lincoln and Washington, declared undertaker W. B. Harding to-day.

James P. Burns declared: "The scientists ought to contend to let poor old King Tut remain where he is. Despite the circumstances surrounding his discovery, the fact remains he has been there 3000 years and the world has not stopped moving yet because of it."

C. C. Carroll said:

"The dead, once buried, should not be disturbed. The man who is fostering the movement to place the mummy in a museum would revolt at the suggestion that we place the mummies of their relatives beside that of King Tut. Furthermore, I can't see why they feel they must remove the remains at this late date."

A. R. Hollen says:

"We ought to consider the old King's personal feelings. I am strongly opposed to placing any more mummies in museums. In fact, I believe the mummies now in the museums should be restored to their resting places."

Charles A. Clement, of the firm of Cornell & Clement, says:

"It is an outrage. Let him repose where he is. Would you want some so-called scientist poking around the bones of your relatives just to find out what they were years ago?"

Joseph A. Keegan, of Keegan & Osvelt, styled the exhumation as "irreverent and sacrilegious."

"What difference does it make to

"A WONDERFUL FEED!"

This was the statement made by Albert Angell, Jr., the noted poultry expert, when he made and tested Vitality Chick Starter. Angell says, "In this new feed we use buttermilk and an abundance of oatmeal and bone meal, the greatest ingredients known for making rapid growth and large frames. We can now grow more chicks on Vitality Chick Starter than any other feed I have ever known. The first four weeks tells the story of the chick's life. Grow them fast, big and plump in this time and then the rest is easy."

Albert Angell, Jr., also recommends Vitality Growing Mash from four weeks to six months in growing pullets for Fall and Winter laying. Ask for a copy of "Scientific Poultry Feeding and Management" and raise every chick.

Be sure the signature of Albert Angell, Jr., is on every sack of Vitality Chick Starter and Vitality Growing Mash, with our guarantee of absolute satisfaction when fed according to directions.

WOMEN'S INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE FOR PEACE CONVENES

Here are the most prominent women in the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom who met in Washington to discuss the best means that can be adopted by the United States in the world crisis today. From left to right in the group are Mrs. Harriet C. Brown, of Washington; Mrs. Louise W. Atkinson, of Detroit; Mrs. Ruth Colton, Mrs. Amy Woods, National Secretary; Mrs. Robert A. LaFollette, wife of the Senator from Wisconsin; Miss Maude Royden of New York (formerly living in London), known as the foremost woman preacher of the world; and Mrs. Lucy Biddle Lewis, of Lansdowne, Pennsylvania, National chairman of the sessions.

us of the present day whether they lived on olive oil or crocodiles in the days of King Tut? The only thing that will benefit, apparently, will be the pocketbooks of the Parisian designers. By the way, how would you like to have your mummified corpse exposed to the inquisitive eyes and equally prying fingers of the Martians some 5,000 years hence?"

It is strange that more women do not make the famous old-fashioned Southern Tea Cake. There is no more delicious cake to "nibble at" between meals or to serve with an afternoon cup of tea or coffee. I have rewritten the time-honored recipe, interlarding it with "just how" details, to help the young housekeeper.

Southern Tea Cakes: Put into a medium-sized bowl one cup of butter, and work this to a creamy consistency. Then work into the butter two cups of granulated sugar, adding only a little at a time. When the two are blended, stir in one and one-half cups of sweet milk in which you have dissolved one-half teaspoon of baking soda. Then add two beaten eggs. Beat well, and add four and three-fourths cups of ordinary bread flour, a little at a time, beating well after each addition.

You will now have a very stiff paste in your bowl. This is as it should be, for these cakes are rolled out with a rolling pin. Turn the mass out onto a lightly floured bread board and roll it three-quarters of an inch thick. Now take either a cookie cutter or an ordinary drinking glass, press its edges in flour, and cut the rolled-out batter into discs. Place these discs close together on buttered pans. (I generally can get seven or eight of them onto one round pan.)

Get your oven very hot. If you have a Fahrenheit oven thermometer, wait until it registers 500 before putting your cakes in to bake. After 15 minutes, do not be afraid to open the oven door and look at the cakes every now and then. They must not be allowed to burn—just to brown delicately. In all they will require from 25 to 30 minutes of baking. Frost with the following:

Uncooked White Icing: Put one egg-white into a dish. Do not beat it. Rub into it one cup of confectioners' sugar and one teaspoon of vanilla extract. Spread this frosting on the cakes as soon as they come from the oven.

CHAPTER XLVI

Ann went to the party and suffered torture all the evening. Grace told gayly of her trip with Dick, of how she had to help him out of the car, and drive most of the way home, because she was afraid they'd have an accident. She made a joke of Dick's being unable to drink; said he didn't know his own name when he did; that he would have left her behind if she hadn't kept close to him and so on.

As Ann writhed, she kept saying to herself:

"She'll be gone tomorrow."

"Don't let her annoy you, Ann," Hugh Norton, who had been watching her sensitive face, said in a low tone. "No one pays any attention to her nonsense."

"I can't stand much more, Hugh," Ann for the first time weakened before him.

"Make Dick take you home. You look ill."

"No, I'll stay."

"They were almost the last ones who left, Dick refusing to take any notice of her repeated hints. Before they left Grace had been for sometime talking in a low tone to Dick. Ann saw him hold her hands for a long time, looking down into her eyes with a strange light in his own—a light that troubled Ann."

Sitting beside her husband in the flivver, Ann heard him sigh. She clenched her hands above the baby, but said nothing. Just before they reached home, Dick said:

"Well, tomorrow night at this time Grace will be in Hollywood. It's going to be mighty dull here without her."

Still Ann said nothing, but her heart was singing a psalm of praise; she would have Dick to herself again. She would make him forget Grace's influence.

For several days Dick seemed unusually quiet, but soon his interest in his planting, in improving his ranch made him talk and discuss things with Ann as usual. She met him more than half way, determined that she would win his thoughts from the girl who had so nearly wrecked their home; who she believed had deliberately tried to.

Often Ann thought of Grace's criticism of her; her talk of how she could not be kitchen maid and still hold a man like Dick; of her taking life too seriously.

Was Grace right?

Ann knew she had little time because of her economical ideas; that if she had help in the house she could often be out with Dick. But he had imbued her with a love for the ranch almost if not quite equal to his own, and every penny they saved went into improvements.

Dick had wanted to hire a girl, or a Chin, but she had refused. He worked hard, why shouldn't she? They were both working for the same end—a home unencumbered by debt, a future competence. She wondered if in thinking so much of this she had done wrong—wrong as far as Dick was concerned. Had he lost some of the feeling he had for the dainty school teacher, now that she had become the busy, hard-working wife?

She visualized Grace in her stylish clothes, care-free, laughing the days away; and then herself, often too tired to be very companionable.

She was always neat and dainty in her dress, but a print gown, an apron, make even the prettiest woman look plainer than smart sport, and other clothes.

Ann took more pains with her hair, her complexion. She tried to rest when she could, to remove the tracks of her anxiety, her worry that had made Grace say she had gone off so terribly in her looks. She made herself discuss other things than the ranch with Dick, telling him they must not get into a rut, and think that there was nothing in the world worth talking about but their business. In fact she did all she could to make herself more attractive to Dick, without spending money needed for the ranch for help.

"You grow prettier every day," Dick said once at table, and Ann felt repaid for her efforts. It had been a long time since he had complimented her, and she had blushed like a school girl when he said it.

"She's gone for good, we'll be happy now, Ann constantly assured herself, and gradually the unhappy weeks faded from her mind. She never spoke of Grace, and Dick mentioned her but seldom. When he did, she changed the subject as quickly as possible, but tactfully. It still hurt to hear her name.

If Grace communicated with Dick, Ann knew nothing of it. No letters had come to the ranch. She had been fearful Grace would write as she had previously when away, and had dreaded Dick's asking her to reply to them, knowing she never would consent.

"How well you look, Ann!" Hugh Norton said about a month after Grace left. "You grow prettier and younger every day."

"That's what I tell her," Dick replied. "I don't know how she does it, and work as hard as she does."

"It's because I'm happy Dick," Ann replied softly, anxious that Hugh should know she was no longer anxious, glad to have him see how happy she and Dick now were.

SIX KILLED WHEN TRAIN STRIKES AUTO SAY FUNDS MISUSED

IRREGULARITIES SAID TO EXIST IN VET BUREAU

Washington, March 30.—Evidence of wide extravagance and alleged "irregularities" in the control of hospitalization funds, which may ultimately reach the proportions of a national scandal, has been unearthed by the preliminary senatorial investigation of the United States Veterans Bureau, International News Service learned officially today.

After merely touching the surface of the bureau's administrative record, the senatorial inquiry is said to have revealed instances of "gross abuses" in the award of contract payments for dental treatment of former soldiers. These payments were involved in expenditures into millions of dollars it was said.

Other evidence now in the hands of the investigators is understood to indicate the inquiry would ultimately reveal gross negligence and perhaps even actual dishonesty in the administration of the bureau.

The preliminary probe which unearthed this evidence, was conducted by Major General John F. O'Ryan, of New York, acting as special counsel to the senate committee. A special report setting forth his findings to date has been prepared by General O'Ryan for submission to the committee.

As a result of the preliminary revelations, General O'Ryan has taken steps to create special investigating agencies in every state of the union. These state board will be composed of widely known lawyers who also served in the army during the war. They will be empowered to hear complaints of hospitalization abuses in their own states and to submit recommendations for remedial action to the senate committee.

In order to organize these agencies, General O'Ryan has appealed to the presidents of the bar associations of all states for recommendations on their membership.

General O'Ryan will name the board members from the names submitted by the bar presidents. This action was taken to give every state an equal opportunity to be heard on complaints against the management of the veterans bureau. The findings of the state boards later will be submitted to the senate committee.

SOUTH IN MIDST OF COMEBACK HARDING TOLD IN FLORIDA

The agricultural south, hard hit by the ravages of the boll weevil and the effects of the nationwide wave of depression is in the midst of a rapid comeback, President Harding was informed today by Fred Starek, director of the War Finance Corporation, who has partially completed an inspection trip through the southern states.

Starek talked farm credits with the president, for more than an hour. It was one of the few business conferences Mr. Harding has engaged in since starting on his vacation trip from Washington.

President Harding was greatly interested in the report of the War Finance Corporation as he expects to dwell considerably on the agriculture situation and what has been done to help it when he makes his swing through the west this summer. With the end of the presidential vacation in sight, Mr. Harding is already beginning to slack down in his "play" and devote some time each day to consideration of official matters. He is continuing conferences with Chairman Lasker, of the shipping board on the government's merchant marine policy, but no decision has been reached as to the disposition of the fleet.

U. S. ATTEMPTS TO CONTROL SHIPS

Washington, March 30.—Another knotty problem affecting the enforcement of the National prohibition act, confronted the department of justice today.

The government's legal experts have been asked by Secretary of State Hughes to decide if jurisdiction over shipping board vessels can be retained by the United States even after the ships have been sold to foreign companies.

The question was raised by a protest made to the state department by the Canadian government against efforts of the shipping board to prevent American ships from being diverted to the rum running trade in violation of the Volstead act.

Ralph R. Nyman, a 400-pound motorman, has been chosen to represent the employees on the Board of Directors of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Lines. Nyman is President of the Co-operative Welfare Association of the employees. He has been a motorman for 14 years. He succeeds John W. McElroy, the first employee to be elected to the board.

WILL CONSIDER OFFER OF PEACE IN RUHR VALLEY

Paris, March 30.—Premier Poincare sent a message to the chamber of deputies today stating that France will examine any offer made by Germany through the allies for settlement of the Ruhr problem providing it "is precise, serious and direct."

Heretofore, France had maintained the position that any German proposals would have to be made direct from Berlin to Paris.

Premier Poincare's announcement was received with applause. Later the chamber of deputies adjourned until May 8, after voting the appropriations necessary to maintain the military establishment and administration in the Ruhr. Premier Poincare's message was carefully worded and was received just before adjournment for the Easter holiday. He said that the government had decided to allow Germany to make an offer to France through the allies, on condition they are "serious written propositions and not an attempt at mediation," he added.

"We will not accept any semi-official or indirect negotiations but the day the German government recognizes that resistance is destructive to Germany itself and brings to us or to the allies serious precise propositions we will examine them with loyalty and justice."

CLASH WITH BRITISH OVER RUM SMUGGLING

Washington, March 30.—Efforts of the United States government to break up liquor smuggling from neighboring British possessions have brought about another clash with the British government. Protest has been filed with the state department by the British ambassador against restrictions which the American government has undertaken to impose in the transfer of vessels from American to British registry. The shipping board has sent all the papers on the question to the state department. The British raise the point that the American government is undertaking arbitrarily to permit the confiscation of the ships after they pass from American ownership and come under the control and protection of the British flag.

U. S. ATTEMPTS TO CONTROL SHIPS

Washington, March 30.—Another knotty problem affecting the enforcement of the National prohibition act, confronted the department of justice today.

The government's legal experts have been asked by Secretary of State Hughes to decide if jurisdiction over shipping board vessels can be retained by the United States even after the ships have been sold to foreign companies.

The question was raised by a protest made to the state department by the Canadian government against efforts of the shipping board to prevent American ships from being diverted to the rum running trade in violation of the Volstead act.

POLICY BOARD TO BEGIN WORK TO SELL FLEET

Washington, March 30.—With no aid or encouragement from the three branches of the shipping industry called upon for suggestions, the shipping board policy committee will begin work on the formulation of its own plan for the sale of the government-owned fleet.

Commissioner Meyer Lissner, chairman of the committee, said the plan will be ready for submission to the whole board when Chairman Lasker returns from Florida, where he is a member of President Harding's vacation party. Lissner indicated, however, that some of the general principles of the proposed scheme still are far from settled.

The council of American shipbuilders, last of the organizations asked to submit views as to the best method of disposing of the ships, presented its reply through a committee headed by Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company.

The shipyard men had not made formal reply to the committee questionnaire. The shipbuilders were inclined to agree, however, with the assertions of the American Steamship Owners' association and United States Ship Operators' association, that it was doubtful whether any considerable number of the vessels could be sold with a guarantee on the part of the purchaser to maintain the service on a specified route for a term of years.

Only by giving preferential treatment to American shipping, Mr. Ferguson declared, could it be made sufficiently attractive to warrant the investment of the considerable sum of money that would be required for the purchase and operation for a term of years of any large number of the government ships.

Mr. Ferguson advocated a program of preferential treatment as follows: Extension of the coastwise laws to the Philippine trade, which would bar foreign vessels; reduced railroad rates on through shipments for export and import in American bottoms; abrogation of the commercial treaties standing in the way of preferential treatment in tonnage taxes and discriminating customs duties, and free or lower tolls to American vessels using the Panama canal.

The only one of these suggestions which it is believed there is any possibility of being adopted at this time is the extension of the coastwise laws to the Philippines. Under the Jones act the president is directed to proclaim this extension when he determines there is sufficient American tonnage to adequately provide for the service. There is no doubt of the adequacy of the tonnage now and President Harding is understood to be seriously considering the issuance of such a proclamation.

WOMAN LEAPS FROM RIVER BRIDGE TO DEATH—IS UNKNOWN

Cleveland, March 30.—An unidentified woman, aged about 24, jumped from the Rocky River bridge to her death one hundred feet below today. Her body, the features mangled beyond recognition, landed on the rocky shore of the river. Two pedestrians who saw the suicide, made a vain attempt to reach her as she climbed the bridge railing.

The body was taken later to an undertaking establishment. The only clue that may lead to the identification of the woman were the initials R. F. to M. B. found inside a wedding ring on her finger.

The death leap occurred as hundreds of motorists were hurrying to the city and within a few minutes the bridge was jammed with cars, while the occupants watched officers retrieve the body from the shore.

The body landed within a few feet of Henry Soder, who has a fish tug dock below the bridge.

"I heard a swishing sound, looked up, saw the woman falling, then heard a thud. She died instantly as she struck the ground," Soder said.

The woman was about 5 feet, 4 inches tall and weighed about 130 pounds. A purse containing $5.95 was found in a pocket.

SCORE ARE INJURED IN BIG FIRE IN NEW YORK

Six Firemen Injured When Wall Falls — Million Dollar Blaze Threatens Bellevue Hospital.

New York, March 30.—One fireman was fatally injured, 11 were injured and eight other persons were hurt in a million dollar fire early today that destroyed the Madison Square West Wash Laundry, a few doors from Bellevue Hospital, where 2,000 patients are under treatment.

The eight other injured were spectators who were hit by brick and slabs of masonry from the falling walls. Fireman Job V. Spanier suffered a fractured skull and died in a hospital.

The firemen were hurt when a rear wall fell. Scores of persons rescued them.

All were taken to the hospital. Panic was threatened in the hospital when clouds of smoke settled over the building and began to fill the halls. Nurses went through the wards calming the patients and reassuring them.

Several buildings adjoining the laundry were badly damaged.

DUAL LIFE ENDS IN MURDER AND SUICIDE IN NEW YORK OFFICE

Daughter of Wealthy Importer Shoots Contractor and Then Ends Own Life—Tragedy Brings Story of Illicit Romance.

New York, March 30.—Learning that the man she loved was married and her unwillingness to give him up, caused Miss Helene Zeigler, 26 year old daughter of an exporter to mortgage her life to a contractor and then kill herself in his office in the Grand Central Terminal building yesterday, police believe today.

Burham died early today in the hospital. Friends of Burham knew of an affair he had with a young woman, they told police and had heard the handsome contractor express fear he would be killed.

Miss Zeigler went to Burham's office, waited until he finished talking business with another man and then went in. They closed the door.

Harry S. Cox, Burham's office manager, heard their voices get louder and louder as they talked until he could tell they were quarreling. Then he heard two shots. He ran down stairs and summoned assistance and when he got back, pushed the door open.

The girl lay on the floor. A bullet in her right temple brought instant death. Near her lay Burham with a wound in his left temple. Some blood was on his vest and shirt.

Cox was greatly excited when questioned by police. He said he did not go in the office when he heard the shots, because he did not want to "take a chance on her shooting me."

Police believe neither Mrs. Burham nor Miss Zeigler were aware of the other's existence until a few days ago when a whirlwind of revelations and circumstances swept the two families into the tragedy.

Mrs. Burham is said to have told her husband, when she learned about his friendship with Miss Zeigler, that he would have to make his choice between them.

The contractor had confided to friends that he "was going to have it out" with the beautiful brunette.

The girl also was resolved to "have it out"; she went prepared either to win one heart or bury two, police believe.

"She did not do that," Mrs. Zeigler's mother sobbed. The Zeiglers believe the two were only casual friends. They had always thought of the dashing contractor as a cheerful bachelor, affable and good company.

Burham's friends told police an old, old story, leading to the double tragedy. Mrs. Burham did not like gay life.

The good looking contractor did and he acquired a habit several years ago of coming into the city from his beautiful home in Dobbs Ferry to seek entertainment and relaxation.

It was on one of these visits he met the charming Miss Zeigler. They became friendly and friendship was welded by association and interests, into warm love.

He did not tell her he was married. Then as love grew, it became impossible to tell her. So he settled to the double life. He was frequently a guest at the Zeigler's beautiful home Riverside Drive.

Police are examining witness and talking with friends of the dead couple today, trying to complete the fabric of their theory that the girl decided she would not give up her love—even to a wife.

OHIO WOMAN TRIES SUICIDE TWICE ON NEW YORK FERRY

New York, March 30.—Having previously swallowed four ounces of iodine, Mrs. Marie Albrecht Barnes, 20, bride of Henry Barnes, Marion, Ohio, waiter, threw hundreds of passengers into a near panic aboard the Staten Island ferry boat, "Brooklyn," during the rush hour today when she tried to hurl herself overboard. She wanted to make sure of the death she sought, she said, when rescued.

A deckhand saw Mrs. Barnes start to throw herself into the bay, and seized her. At that time, she was in agony from the iodine, which she had drunk enroute from the battery to St. George, Staten Island, on the ferryboat "Manhattan." She then caught the "Brooklyn" back to New York.

As soon as the boat docked, Captain W. F. Peabody, in charge of the St. George precinct, rushed the young woman to the Broad street hospital in a car which he commandeered from Nelson H. Still, a broker.

Ammonia had been forced down her throat immediately after she was seized on the boat and this, together with her having taken an overdose, may save her life.

TWENTY INJURED AS TRAIN CRASHES WITH AUTO NEAR COLUMBUS

OCCUPANTS OF MACHINE KILLED INSTANTLY

Engineer, Fireman and Passengers Among Victims of Fatal Collision—Greenville Student Among Injured Rushed to Columbus Hospitals

Columbus, Mar. 30.—Six persons were killed and not less than 14 persons were hurt here this morning when Big Four passenger train number 11, enroute to this city from Cleveland, struck an automobile at Oakland Park Avenue, North Columbus. The dead are:

Mrs. Frank S. Hemminger, 27, Columbus; Robert Hemminger, 5, son of Mrs. Hemminger; Horace Holbrook, Warren, O., publisher; John Clee, Cleveland, fireman; Earl Wilson, fireman, Columbus.

Among those injured are: Mary Catherine Johnson, Columbus; Engineer Andrew Green, Cleveland; Dorothy Coppock, Greenville, Ohio arm burned; W. E. Green, Troy, N. Cincinnati, back crushed and skull fractured; S. L. Nelson, 23, Bowdoinham, Maine, cut over eye and bruised; Robert Henderson, colored, Chattanooga, Tenn., expected to die; Helen Wheeler, Mount Pleasant, Tenn., slightly hurt; F. H. Hiles, Cincinnati; Captain J. E. Covington, Fort Ontario, Oswego, N. Y.; C. H. Lewis, Boston, not badly hurt; Mrs. Vinita Quackenbush, Schenectady, N. Y.; Miss Mary A. O'Hara, Syracuse, N. Y.; Allen Thomas, colored, Pullman porter, New York City, not seriously hurt.

Search is being made through the wreckage for the bodies of one or two other persons thought to have been killed.

Mrs. Hemminger, wife of a local attorney, and her two children were in the automobile. They were instantly killed. It is thought that a brother of Mrs. Hemminger was in the automobile and that his body may be in the wreckage.

The train, because of being late is said to have been running at a speed of 70 miles an hour.

The wrecked machine was carried a block on the engine where the engine, tender and four sleeping coaches were overturned.

Of the injured passengers, about 10 sustained injuries sufficiently serious to warrant sending them to local hospitals.

Uncertainty surrounds the details of the accident. No one has been found who saw the collision.

Every car of the train was derailed, excepting the rear trucks of the last coach.

The derailment was caused by a part of the wrecked auto falling between one of the engine trucks and the rail.

The first coach turned over to the left and buckled. It was in this that Holbrook was killed. The second coach fell over to the right, the derailed train tore up the tracks for a distance of about 200 yards. The engine landed upside down in a 20 foot ditch separating the Big Four and Pennsylvania railroad tracks.

The fact that all the coaches were of steel construction is believed to be the only thing that saved the lives of many of the passengers as the force of the impact when the cars were overturned is believed to have been sufficient to have completely wrecked the cars had they been of wooden construction.

Big Four railroad officials who inspected the wreckage expressed belief that the accident was due to negligence on the part of the person driving the automobile.

He pointed out that there is a clear vision of the crossing for at least 300 yards. These officials believe the auto driver failed to watch out for the train.

A number of passengers reported losing valuables. A recovered new closet and handbag were found. The wrecked auto is said to have been carried the length of a city block on the engine pilot.

The train enroute to this city from Cleveland, is one of the finest on the Big Four railroad. It is said the train was moving at the rate of 70 miles an hour when the accident occurred. It is said there were over 100 passengers on the train.

CO-EDS VOTE ON NEW NAME FOR COLLEGE

Cleveland, O., March 30.—Seven hundred women undergraduates at the College for Women, Western Reserve university here, are balloting today on the selection of a name for the college, which has long been known as "the school without a name."

The name will be selected from among those of persons who have aided the school most either personally or financially.

passengers on the train which left New York City at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. The greater number of those hurt were passengers. It was stated. Derailment of the train is attributed to abrupt application of the brakes forcing the engine and coaches to jump the rails at the frogs of switch a few yards south of the crossing where the collision occurred.

A relief train was rushed from the Big Four downtown yards to the scene with wreck apparatus.

DONAHEY TELLS 2 REPUBLICANS TO LEAVE JOBS

Columbus, O., March 30.—Governor Donahey, in a letter addressed to George T. Poor, Cincinnati, and Frank B. Mauler, Chillicothe, Republican members of the State Utilities Commission, asked them last night to resign, so that he might appoint a new commission in accord with his own policy.

Neither Poor or Mauler, whose terms of office do not expire until 1927, are expected to resign. Governor Donahey tried to replace Charles Marshall, Democratic member of the commission, whose term expired in February by appointing William A. Hopkins, Cincinnati, in his place, but the Senate refused to confirm the appointment, and Marshall is still in office.

Members of the Utilities Commission are appointed for a six year term, and cannot be removed except for cause.

TWO INMATES OF HOME DIE IN FIRE

Alpena, Mich., March 30.—Two men inmates were burned to death and 27 other inmates four of them women were carried to safety by firemen Thursday when the Alpena county infirmary was destroyed by fire. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

The rescued were carried half a mile in a raging snow storm to a farm house. Firemen were handicapped in fighting the blaze by zero weather. A near panic reigned when the inmates, all of them aged, realized the building was afire. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

TWO KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Marion, O., March 30.—Struck by an Erie freight train late last night as they drove in their automobile over the unguarded Bennett Street crossing, Mrs. Edna Farrar Hart, 25, recently divorced, and Theodore V. Bauerfeind 30, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post number 162, American Legion, were killed. The woman's head was decapitated and Bauerfeind died in an ambulance.

CHILD SERIOUSLY BURNED FROM GRATE

Newark, O., March 30.—Rosalee Suder, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Suder, was seriously and perhaps fatally burned at her home here last evening. Her clothing, which caught fire, from an open grate was consumed and her body from the knees to her head was terribly blistered and blackened. The mother in her frantic efforts to save the child, sustained severe burns on the hands and arms. The child is in city hospital here.

GOULD SERIOUSLY ILL.
Mentone, France, March 30.—The condition of George J. Gould, American railway magnate and financier, who is suffering from heart trouble, took a turn for the worse this afternoon. A bulletin issued at 4 o'clock said Gould had a relapse.

FILM FOLK OWE DEBT TO PUBLIC' AVERS SCHENCK

Los Angeles, March 30.—Motion picture stars owe a great personal debt to the public—a greater one perhaps than they ever will be able to pay.

Thus does Joseph M. Schenck, maker of silver screen stars, view the relationship of film luminaries to their patrons.

"There is that unbeatable law of compensation," Schenck declared in an exclusive statement to International News Service. "No one ever got anything without paying for it, and the motion picture stars pay and pay dearly for the glory they receive from the public when elevated to picture stardom.

"No producer nor a dozen managers can really make a film star popular with the motion picture going public. The particular person has to be endowed with individuality, ability and the happy faculty of making himself popular. When they have these endowments and are elevated to a place in the minds and hearts of people all over the world they have to pay for them. They owe something in return to the public and must recognize it.

NEVER CAN REPAY

"They can't pay their obligation in dollars and cents," Schenck went on after a pause, "but they can—in fact, they must—show their appreciation through their behavior—the manner in which they spend their hours and conduct themselves while off the screen.

"The public elects picture stars to be favorites just as it elects men and women to serve in public office. Any public office holder has constantly got to be on his guard to not make a 'miss-step,' and the same applies to people who appear in motion pictures. They owe it. They know it, and every one of them will tell you they are trying to pay it."

"Some people present the argument that the public in general does not care what sort of a private life the star leads, so long as he or she satisfies it while on the screen," it was suggested to the movie magnate. "Indeed, it does care," he declared. "The public thinks more of their private life than it does of their appearance on the screen, because it knows they are before the camera they are presenting their 'best.' There are thousands—millions would be better—of young girls throughout the world that select one feminine star and literally model their very lives and appearances after her fashion.

ARE YOUTHFUL HEROES

"The public perhaps doesn't realize when considering the private life of a picture actor or actress that he or she is elevated to a pedestal of virtue at a comparatively young age—say, 24 or 26 years. On the contrary a public office holder is not selected until he has attained a full majority of at least 35 years. In our younger years we all do a lot of things we should not and do not do a lot of things we should. This should be recognized when criticizing stars.

"The foremost purpose of motion pictures today is to entertain," Schenck declared, "and everything else—education, money making and the so-called message of the actors and actresses to the public—are secondary in purpose."

No more Rheumatism

"Suffering has gone from your face, mother!"
S. S. S. Is the Great Builder of Red Blood-Cells and Rheumatism Must Go! Just Try It!

"Rheumatism? No, indeed, it's all gone, every bit of it! It's sunshine and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel a wonderful glow again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at my hands and think of the twists and swellings they used to have. I bend way over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S. S. S. for it all! To me it was a rising sun of joy and liberty. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S. S. S. is waiting to help you." There is a reason why S. S. S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red-blood cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change. Everything depends on blood-strength. Blood which is minus sufficient red-cells leads to a long list of troubles. Rheumatism is one of them. S. S. S. is the great blood-cleanser, blood-builder, system strengthener, nerve invigorator. It stops skin eruptions, too, pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema. It builds up run down, tired men and women, beautifies complexion, makes the flesh firmer. Start S. S. S. today. It is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

FLOWERS ARE IN MILADY'S CORSAGE PROFUSION FOR

As a final touch to a perfect Easter outfit, a cluster of colorful spring flowers always receives a ready patronage upon the part of the feminine public, and as a thoughtful gift for Easter Sunday, an equal of spring blossoms has never been found.

As a glad word after the trying months of winter, and as a herald to spring, local florists are announcing that Easter flowers are now in profusion, for the Easter shopper.

After several months of cloudy, cold weather, when blossoms were scarce for florists to purchase even from hothouses, the first rays of the spring sunshine has caused an increase in the lots received.

The tall, graceful, sweetly perfumed Easter lily still holds a reign of popularity among the shoppers for Easter flowers. The waxy blossoms, symbols of the Eastertide, can be purchased from local florists at from $4.00 up a dozen.

Ranking next in popularity, comes the yellow daffodils, and jonquils, narcissus, carnations, roses, sweet peas, and violets, Jaquills and daffodils are priced in local shops at from $1.50 a dozen up carnations at the same price, and roses at $3.00 a dozen and up, according to the length of the stems.

ROTARY MAGAZINE CARRIES ARTICLE REGARDING NAMING OF INFANT AFTER RUSSEL F. GREINER FORMER XENIAN

The "Buzz Saw", official publication of the Rotary Club of Kansas City, Mo., of which Russell F. Greiner former Xenian, is president, carried the following story in the current issue concerning the honor conferred upon Mr. Greiner by a woman in Virginia, who named a newly born infant after the Rotary head. The story follows:

"While life in many respects is the same today as it was when old King Toot was dodging his creditors and his step-mother, certain phenomena like the radio makes it seem different. In the time of the Pharaohs the foolish practice of crime, if you will, of hopeful mothers naming their little off-springs after some celebrity was first begun and it seems that the same methods of choosing names for the young hopeful and hopeless of this generation is still in vogue. An instance of this has just come to light and as it affects the club and all of us indirectly we believe you should know about it.

"You of course know that our president took a large part in the Radio anniversary program sponsored by the International office at Chicago. Russ made a very good radio speech and otherwise conduct himself in commendable manner. A few days after it was all over a letter was received here from Mrs. T. L. Sprouse of Vinton, Va., announcing that she had just named a very young son of hers and had selected the name of Russell Greiner because she had been permitted to hear our president speak over the radio in the anniversary program. Now she didn't admit, unfortunately, just why she should participate in this newest crime wave so we can only surmise and in our surmises we may find the answer.

"It hardly seems possible that this great honor was bestowed upon Russ because of his architectural of symmetric beauty. There was Adonis and Apollo and many other mythical peacocks you know who some think had it all over Russ and who are always available for name making purposes. This is bum surmise for when we think about it seriously we felt sure that Russell's slight Semitic cast of countenance and that middle-age bulge which he is now affecting would forever preclude him were

In choosing children's Easter footwear, one should always take into consideration the very definite economy to be gained through getting shoes of the better quality, which save for you through longer wear—

And you should not overlook the very important fact that the life-long foot ailments which often result from cheap, poorly made shoes, can be entirely avoided by getting the better grade, in which skilled workmanship assures shape-retention and proper foot support.

The "health insurance" of better shoes costs very little when compared to the protection it affords delicate, growing feet.

HARDING'S TWO YEARS IN FOUR PARAGRAPHS.

It is an axiom oft repeated and oft proved by the progress of events that the happiest peoples have the least history. Years of peace and prosperity are held to be uneventful. Historians concern themselves chiefly with revolutions, international wars and intrigue in high places. Judged by these standards, the first two years of the Harding administration can be written in four paragraphs. One would refer to the treaty of peace between the United States and Germany. The second would signal the negotiation of the treaties of Washington and the successful issue of the conference for the limitation of armaments. A third would relate to the Central American conference held in Washington last month, and the last would record the prosperity of the United States as compared to the political and economic chaos in Europe. Those things are not colorful; not one is stained with human blood, and yet they are things that reflect the highest credit like on the government and people of the United States.

HARK, FROM THE TOMBS COME DOLEFUL CRIES.

Speaking Monday evening at a banquet of the Florida State Bar Association, where, due to the latitude, it was considered appropriate to deliver a partisan Democratic harangue, former Governor James M. Cox declared that the United States "was not enjoying the fruits of peace" because the American government had made a "craven and cowardly retreat from our responsibilities, and abandonment as well of the principles for which our heroic soldiers died."

This sounds like a left-over stump speech from Mr. Cox's 1920 campaign. Has Governor Cox so soon forgotten the verdict rendered by the American people upon such sentiments a little more than two years ago? Has he overlooked the fact that running on that sort of platform he received the worst "trimming" ever administered to a Democratic candidate for President since the birth of the party?

What sort of peace "fruit" does Governor Cox think the American people are missing? The kind they are eating in Europe, under the blight of the stupid and disastrous peace treaty President Wilson helped to write, and which intelligent commentators the world over now agree is directly responsible for the failure of Europe to progress toward normalcy?

If there has been a "craven and cowardly retreat from our responsibilities" in Europe, whatever they may be in the opinion of our pro-Europeans, then the American people are the cravens and cowardly responsible for the failure to involve this country in Europe's continued bankruptcy and bloodshed. After the booting Governor Cox received at the polls on his program of European entanglement, he may have a very poor opinion of the intelligence and courage of the American people, but he is not going to get anywhere politically by abusing his countrymen and defaming his country.

THE COMING SANTIAGO CONFERENCE.

That part of the agenda of the Pan American Conference in Santiago, Chile, proposed by the program committee, headed by the American Secretary of State, forecasts an interesting session. The personnel of the delegation, which sailed recently to represent the United States, indicates the assured interest of the Washington government in the conference, regarding which some of the Central and South American countries had seemed to be in doubt. Henry P. Fletcher, Ambassador to Belgium, who will act as chairman of the delegation, has long been familiar with industrial, commercial and social conditions in the southern republics. He goes to Santiago equipped with first-hand knowledge of the affairs to be discussed, and backed, as well, by a delegation composed of men of long experience in dealing with international problems.

Even with the enforced absence of Secretary Hughes, who found it impossible to be absent from Washington long enough to open the conference, the United States will be adequately represented. The official roster of the delegation includes, besides the name of Mr. Fletcher, those of Frank B. Kellogg, of Minnesota and Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, senators who retired March 4; Willard Saulsbury, former Senator from Delaware; George E. Vincent, of New York; Frank C. Partridge, of Vermont; William H. Fowler, of Washington, D. C., and Dr. L. S. Rowe, director of the Pan-American Union.

Even though there may not at once be realized that complete political accord among the nations which is sought after and idealized, there is bound to be forged and solidified among nations which see singly and hold fast to a common ideal, a bond of brotherhood which cannot be severed by any unrepresentative or self-seeking diplomacy. The adhesive and cohesive strength of any league or associations of nations must be measured after all, by the pure quality of that brotherly love which is claims to typify.

THOMAS JEFFERSON—"LEST WE FORGET."

Thomas Jefferson, signer of the Declaration of Independence, from Virginia, was born at Shadwell, Albemarle county, Va., in 1743. After attending a preparatory school, he completed his education at William and Mary College. He was an industrious scholar, fond of literature and mathematics. He played well on the violin. At 17 he was tall, raw-boned, freckle-faced, sandy-haired, with large feet and hands, prominent cheek bones and chin, athletic, strong and awkward. He was very fond of horses and hunting. He studied law under George Wythe, at Williamsburg, and was admitted to the bar in 1767. In May, 1769, he became a member of the House of Burgesses, with George Washington. In 1772 he married Mrs. Martha Skelton, a widow without children, thus adding 40,000 acres of land to the 1,900 inherited from his father, and 135 slaves to the 30 he already possessed. His wife died two years, later, leaving two little girls. In 1775 Jefferson became a member of Congress. During the following summer he drew up the Declaration of Independence, which, after a few alterations, was adopted. In June, 1779, he was elected governor of Virginia, and when Tarleton and Arnold invaded the state he was made an object of particular pursuit. In the summer of 1784 he became minister to France, and upon his return, Washington, appointed him Secretary of State. In 1793 he retired to Monticello. His retirement ended March 4, 1801, when he entered the White House, and served as President until 1809. He died July 4, 1826, aged 83.

SEEING HIMSELF IN THE BOSS' CLOTHES

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

Dr. A. D. DeHaven today withdrew his name as a candidate on the Independent ticket for member of the Board of Public Service.

The Gazette job room is turning out election ballots in large quantities and among these being printed is one lot for Switzerland and another lot for Jerusalem—both in Monroe County, Ohio.

Mr. E. E. Story, who has been acting as superintendent of the County Children's Home has announced his intention of resigning that position, within the next few days. Mr. and Mrs. Story will go to Lancaster, Ohio, where they will have charge of a cottage at the Boy's Reformatory.

A new poultry establishment will be started in Xenia by Mr. J. W. Salmans, who will engage in the business of buying poultry and eggs and butler in Xenia for the purpose of shipping it to Eastern markets.

A COLD CREAM PACK
Complexions that are very dry or very old and wrinkled, or harsh from neglect or ill-advised treatments will benefit enormously from a cold cream pack. This is not a difficult treatment but it is a tedious one, to be given strictly in the privacy of one's room with no possibility of an unsympathetic family coming in to jeer. The first essential is a really nourishing cold cream, one that contains almond or olive oil for the skin to absorb. I have a formula for an excellent one if you wish to use it. Ordinary creams at 50c a jar or so are of no use except as cleansers. First wash the face with hot water and a mild soap, such as castile, scrubbing the skin with a fairly stiff complexion brush. This is to stimulate the blood and to open and cleanse the pores. Rinse with hot water, holding a soft face cloth over the skin so that it is red and glowing. Dry quickly, and before the skin cools rub in a generous amount of cold cream. Massage well so the skin has a chance to absorb these nourishing oils. Then rub on more cold cream so the skin has quite a thick coating.

Now comes the difficult part, for the face must either be covered with a linen mask as beauty shops sell, or it must be bound with long strips of old linen or muslin. These must go across the forehead, around under the chin, holding these lax muscles in place, over the chin and across the cheeks, which is more difficult, and even over the nose. You can see how hard it would be to strap up the sagging muscles properly if this treatment is for old age and wrinkles as well as for a dry skin. I should advise you if you intend to go in for this to purchase the regular type of face mask. A great nuisance, but a good treatment for a bad skin.

DONAHEY ADVISES EMBRYO LAWYERS

Governor Vic Donahey has written to Foran M. Handrick, of Cleveland Ohio, the President of the Ohio Law Club in Georgetown Law School, advising law students regarding their preparations for the practice of law.

The Governor says: "If I were to advise a young lawyer, it would be along the following lines: I would advise that he try at all times to maintain poise and balance. It is so easy to wobble to the right or left. Energy, practically applied, will produce results for any young man. In the last analysis a young man must have absolute control over himself, and should never forget that the interchange of ideas is a great educator and the habit of being a good listener, with proper associations, will make a man out of an ordinary fellow."

Wishing you, and your friends, the highest success in your chosen profession, I beg to remain."

The Club meets regularly for the study of the statutes and decisions of Ohio, and in preparation for the Ohio State Bar examination.

THINGS YOU LONG FOR

Most of the things we long for most lose their attraction as they come to our grasp.

And much that we have hoped for during a long period, gradually is absorbed by the interests of life itself, as we find out new things and learn—to forget!

So that it is well not to let disappointments linger too long.

You are able to grow right up and through your longings.

But there should never come a period in your life when you are without longings. They are as essential to a happy experience as exercise is to a healthy body.

Do not brood over losses. What is gone, is gone. That is the first fact to face in such an emergency.

The next fact to face really becomes a condition—what are you going to do about it?

Another thing: As we grow in age and experience, our viewpoints change. The things we longed for in youth—and missed—we rarely long for in maturity. But it is because of these very longings that we are blessed with happier longings after youth has been served.

The boy who wanted to be a doctor turns out to be a lawyer or a merchant prince. And his longings then take the direction of his interests.

But it is with the longings of the spirit that we are most concerned. Because it is through them that character is best developed.

You may be tied to what seems to you a dire necessity of duty. You feel bound and cramped. Your spirit rises in revolt and falls in humble submission. But your soul fairly leaps in growth!

ST. PIERRE NOW OFFICIAL HAVEN OF RUM FLEETS

St. Pierre, Miquelon, March 30.—The Miquelons, a minute island group off the southern coast of Newfoundland, one-time proudest possession of France in the New World, are again coming into their own. Headlines in the daily papers again mention the tiny group—but for a sadly different reason than was their oldtime fame. Practically every rum runner captured off the American coast today shows on its clearance papers that St. Pierre, Miquelon, is its "official destination." And yet the world hardly knows of the existence of the little archipelago.

WAS ONCE LEADING PORT

Forty years ago St. Pierre, capital of the islands, was the leading fishing port of the world. Today it is striving little parish clinging desperately to the customs of old France. It is a gray village, with a glorious past and no apparent future. A quarter of the houses are vacant, and the quays once thronged with vessels whose yardarms interlocked, now have but a sprinkling of ships, even at the height of the fishing season. Crushed and buffeted about during the struggle between France and England for supremacy in the New World, the Miquelons are today paying the price for allegiance to the vanquished. The Miquelons after Canada was ceded to victorious Britain, were returned to France as a "consolation prize" the little islands to serve as a base on this side of the Atlantic for the great fishing industry built up by the French.

The Miquelon Archipelago consists of Grand Miquelon, some 12 miles long by 6 wide; Petite Miquelon or Longlade, a trifle smaller, and St. Pierre, only 7 miles by 2. In addition there are a number of tiny rocky islets of little importance. St. Pierre though the smallest of the three major islands, has always been the center of population because of its harbor. In its heyday the little town was covered with handsome residences and there was a social life that made St. Pierre a miniature Paris.

FISHING TRADE RUINED
But the Miquelon's prosperity and gaiety were cut short by a prosaic "factor-bait." Affairs of Empire in 1904 moved statesman in Paris to sell the French treaty rights to catch small fish for some millions of francs and territory in Africa. The Newfoundland fishermen, long jealous of their French rivals, seized their chance and jammed through the "Bait act" which prohibited the sale of bait to alien vessels and thus did the Miquelons' woe.

The picture today is a sad one. The population has dropped from 6,000 to less than 3,000 and the thousands of fishermen who thronged the streets of St. Pierre in the fishing season are missing. And yet despite misfortune the tiny village struggles valiantly to cling to the remnants of the past. A visitor stepping ashore at St. Pierre enters France as truly as though he were disembarking at Calais or Bordeaux. The language of the populace is surprisingly pure and free from patois. Wooden houses, with characteristic French windows and roofs, line the streets. Natives clatter back and forth in wooden-soled shoes. Huckster children, quaintly dressed, peddle strings of cod-tongues from little wagons drawn by patient dogs. On every hand are shrines testifying to the religious nature of the Miquelaise.

And this is the picture of the Miquelons, one time most famous fishing center of the world—today, the "official destination" of rum runners.

TEXAS BOYS 'BUM' WAY 9,000 MILES

New York March 30.—"If you were born and reared in Alaska it's all right to travel the way we did in mid-winter, but if your home is in the sunny South wait until Spring or Summer," advise Thomas Turner and Arthur Trollo, of San Antonio, Texas, who recently completed a trip of nearly nine thousand miles—without a cent to start on.

Turner is the son of a Texas cotton broker and Trollo of a San Antonio merchant. The two young Texans, each 18, started for New York, via the "slide door Pullman" route, in the middle of Winter, sans cash, and with their stock in trade a desire to see the world.

The weather was balmy in the historic Alamo city, but far from it in New York, where they arrived after much duress.

Their first impulse on arrival was to keep going. It was too chilly to stand still. They shipped aboard the United States Shipping Board freighter Eastern Tempest, bound for Hull, England. Passing through terrific storms they reached the English port, spent a week there, and then steamed to Brest, France. At that port they left the ship long enough to spend a day in Paris.

The return voyage was more troublous than the outgoing one. The vessel was a mass of ice when she reached New York.

During one of the worst storms Trollo ventured on deck and came near losing his life when he was swept overboard.

Seizing a rope just as he felt himself slipping he was swung clear of the deck and over the side of the vessel. Washed back, he was hurled against the side of the cabin and received minor injuries.

Both boys have decided to abandon globe-trotting.

BOND HOLDERS LOSE BIG SUM IN INTEREST

Washington, March 30.—Holders of the victory notes which were called for redemption by the treasury last Dec. 15, have lost an aggregate of more than $1,000,000 in interest, according to a statement today by Acting Secretary Gilbert who declared that more than $80,000,000 of those notes remain outstanding and their owners are losing interest at the rate of $10,000 a day.

Several opportunities have been given the holders of victory notes, both those which were called Dec. 15 and those which mature May 20, to exchange their securities for fresh issues of government paper, or for cash, but the amounts turned in have been surprisingly small. Mr. Gilbert said the condition of the treasury was such that it not only was anxious to retire those notes already called for redemption but any part of the $820,000,000 in outstanding victory notes due to mature May 20.

In retiring the uncalled notes, the treasury announced it will receive them at par and adjust the interest to the date of the redemption. These notes bear the distinguishing letters G, H, I, J, K and L, while the notes already called and on which the interest ceased Dec. 15 bear the letters A, B, C, D, E and F.

"THE CHARM SCHOOL" CAPABLY PRESENTED BY CENTRAL HIGH JUNIORS THURSDAY NIGHT

The Junior Class of Central High School scored an enormous hit Thursday night in its excellent initial presentation of "The Charm School," a fascinating comedy by Alice Duer Miller and Robert Milton, at City Hall Theater.

"The Charm School" is a sparkling mirth-producing play, with a well-woven plot. It relates the adventures of a handsome automobile salesman, scarcely out of his teens, who upon inheriting a girls boarding school from a maiden aunt, insists on running it himself, according to his own ideas, chief of which is that the dominant feature in the education of the young girl of today should be charm. The situations that arise are teeming with clean wholesome humor. In the end the young man gives up the school and promises to wait until the most precocious of his pupils reaches a marriage age.

Under the capable supervision of Miss Jean B. Elwell, directress, the cast emerged from the mediocre quality of the average amateur performance and acquired the aplomb of finished artists. Her untiring efforts have produced a class play which is of extraordinary merit. Each character showed the touch of Miss Elwell's genius.

The leading roles were excellently carried by Miss Henrietta Monroe and Dale Washburn. The latter portrayed the character of Austin Bevis, who inherited the girls boarding school. The part requires versatility in acting and he carried the difficult role splendidly.

Opposite him, Miss Monroe as Elsie Chelloner, furnished charm and vivacity. She carried her part with finesse and charm well equalling that of the leading male character.

Dave McKenzie and George Boyd, with Jim and Tim, the humor-provoking couple, who were professors of charm, contributed comedy and diversion. These parts were well played by Arthur Currie, David Doggett, Tim Conklin and Robert Stevens. The difficult part, the irate uncle was ably portrayed by Cleophos Woods.

Lucille Denham and Harriet Keller were splendid in their parts as instructors in the school. Dorothy Hickman in the role of Sally Boy carried that lead excellently. Eight other girls as students of the charm school had no difficulty in charming the audience.

The cast:

XENIA SCHOOL HEAD TO ADDRESS MEET

C. A. Waltz, city superintendent of schools, will appear on the program of the Third Annual Educational Conference which will be conducted by the College of Education, Ohio State University, at Columbus, April 5, 6 and 7. Mr. Waltz will address the sectional meeting dealing with Educational and Intelligence Tests. His subject will be "Four Years of Mental Testing in a City School System."

More than 4,000 Ohio schoolmen are expected to attend the Conference. Practically the entire plant of the University will be in use the second day of the Conference, April 6, when the sectional meetings, touching on 25 different phases of education, will get under way.

In addition to the numerous Ohio school people who will appear on the sectional and general programs, twelve educators of national reputation will address the Conference. Prominent among these speakers are: W. C. Bagley and S. S. Colvin of Teachers' College, Columbia University; C. H. Judd, the University of Chicago, and G. A. Works, Cornell University.

MRS. MARY A. TILLOTSON,
COLUMBUS, O.

Recovers from Long Illness Due to Stomach Trouble and Rheumatism
by Taking Ka-di-ok.

"I hardly believe I would be alive today if it was not for Ka-di-ok. It has practically given me a new lease of life," says Mrs. Mary A. Tillotson, a well-known Columbus woman, residing at 431 E. Livingston Avenue, to the Ka-di-ok expert a few days ago. Further continuing, Mrs. Tillotson said: "For over a year I was laid up with stomach trouble and rheumatism and for several months lived entirely on a milk or bread-and-milk diet, as I could not keep anything else on my stomach; I was in such a bad condition that I could scarcely walk across the room. Sometimes there would be large knots in my limbs, caused by rheumatism, which caused the intense pain and suffering. I had no idea of getting better, but acting on the advice of a friend I was induced to start taking Ka-di-ok. It was certainly a wonderful thing for me when I did so. After a few weeks' treatment I am now able to eat any food that appeals to me and have no distress afterwards. I am getting stronger every day and am now doing my housework. I recently walked several blocks, something I have not been able to do in months, as I have been practically bed-ridden. Ka-di-ok is the finest remedy in the world and has made me feel like a new woman."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store, Xenia.

LONDON BUS WAR IS WAXING WARM

London, March 30.—Wars, rumors of wars and threats of wars are becoming stale topics in London conversation, but occasionally some new "war scare" comes along that arouses interest.

For the moment the popular "war" is London's "bus war." The General Omnibus Company has for years operated its buses on the Streets of London without competition. In the last six months at least four independent bus lines have opened up in competition and now there is a "bus war" on.

The new buses find that they have an unwelcome escort. For every independent bus operating on the street there is a flotilla of General Omnibus Company buses to act as escort. The independent bus man finds himself sandwiched in between a fleet of big red buses, and he has traffic troubles and is generally beaten to the passenger stop, so that his customers are few.

Public sympathy, seems to be in favor of the independent buses, however and they are managing to exist. Lord Ashfield, head of the London transportation combine, who once "smashed baggage" in America, is quite excited and peevish about this "bus war." He warmly defends the tactics which his company has put in force to wipe out competing buses.

"Small omnibus companies have never shared the burden of the day," Lord Ashfield says. "They did nothing to the transport facilities of London."

THE BLUE DANUBE WALTZ

The Blue Danube Waltz was written by Johann Strauss, born in Vienna, Austria, 1825 and died in 1899. One of the best known composers of light music in Austria in the present century. Originally composed for a male quartet, this waltz is much more familiar in America in various arrangements for piano and small orchestras. The waltz is the favorite dance form of Austria and was, during the imperial government, the only form of dance permitted in the Vienna court. In many ways the Blue Danube Waltz is the most popular waltz ever composed. The Danube is a beautiful and historic river of great importance to the Austrians and of historical interest to students. This composition won for Strauss the title of "Waltz King."

IS LACK OF FRIENDS HOLDING YOU DOWN?

No matter how strong a man is—he can't climb life's hill without friends. Loneliness is a chain-and-ball weighing his steps through life.

No friends means no one to take your part against lies and slanders, no one to see that you get fair play, no one to help your family if accident does knock you down, and no one to make success worth while with hearty congratulations.

The moment a man enters the Order of Owls, he throws off the weight of loneliness and takes on the biggest help in this world, THE FRIENDSHIP OF HIS FRIENDS.

You don't have to be born with a silver spoon in your mouth to get FRIENDSHIP in the Order of Owls. Clothes and money and social position don't count here. All you've got to be is a straight, honest, loyal FRIENDLY SORT OF MAN who'll stick to Friends as they will stick to you.

GOOD FRIDAY IS COMMEMORATED IN XENIA CHURCHES

Not less a fixed event than Easter is Good Friday, commemorative of the day of the Crucifixion and observed on the Friday immediately preceding the Easter Festival.

Increasing importance has been attached by Christian communities in later years to Long, or Good or God's Friday as it is variously known. It is probably, as the day on which Christ offered up his life for the redemption of the world, the most sacred and solemn of the Christian year.

In most of the churches on that day the altars are stripped of all decorations, the Crosses are draped in purple and the hangings are of a similar somber hue, and the day is given over largely by the devout to prayer and meditation. This note of sacredness and solemnity is reflected even in the affairs of the secular world, many of the States of the Union, in deference to its deeply religious significance, having made it a legal holiday. The custom of celebrating the day is involved in obscurity, except for the fact that it is the day on which Christ was nailed to the Cross on the Hill of Golgotha, but from the earliest times, every Friday among Christians, has been regarded as a fast day, as every Sunday has been a feast day and the connection between the one as marking the day of Crucifixion and the other as marking the day of Resurrection, is easily traced.

A number of Xenia City Churches will observe Good Friday with evening services, many of the meetings being in preparation for the larger services Sunday. At the Second United Presbyterian Church, the Rev. W. P. Harriman, of the Cedarville Reformed Presbyterian Church will take the place of the pastor, the Rev. C. P. Proudfoot, in a sermon at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Harriman's sermon will be followed by a rally of the Young People of the church, for a "pep" meeting at the First U. P. Church. The meeting will be addressed by John Baletyne, president of the National Young People's Society, who will attend the convention at Sterling, Kansas, during the summer. A social meeting will follow the program.

Another meeting will be held at the Second U. P. Church Saturday afternoon at one thirty o'clock, when the Rev. S. R. Jamieson of Sugar Creek United Presbyterian Church will address the congregation. The meeting is another preparatory service for Easter in the church.

Members who are contemplating joining with the First Reformed Church will meet in the church auditorium, Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, with the Rev. E. W. Middleton.

Services will be held at Christ Episcopal Church, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Litany will be said, followed by a discussion of the subject: "Atonement." This will be the last of the series of weekly Lenten services.

she Rev. B. B. Uhl, pastor of the First Lutheran Church will preach one of a series of three sermons, Friday night, in commemoration of Good Friday.

The series of evangelistic services at the Friends church will continue Friday evening with regular evening sermon by the pastor the Rev. A. J. Furstnberger and Mrs. Ola Ostley, his assistant.

The Rev. Father C. L. Davis, of Aquinas College, Columbus, told a Congregation that practically filled St. Elizabeths Church Holy Thursday night of the "Passion of Christ" in the final of a series of sermons he conducted here during the Lenten period. Catholics commemorate the death of Christ Friday with Veneration of the Cross all day and Stations of the Cross Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Have you a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear. adv

ASTER, commemorating to the Christian believer the Resurrection of the Savior of mankind; and, to the secular mind, the formal opening of the spring-time season; but observed as a festival of joy and feasting by both, is the oldest of all the festivals in the Christian calendar. It is the day which marked the beginning of the preaching of the Gospel of Christ. Easter even antedates Christmas as a fixed event; for, while the day of the Resurrection has been observed from the foundation of the Christian religion, it was not until four centuries later that the natal day of Jesus of Nazareth began to be celebrated.

One of the most interesting facts in connection with Easter is that its origin dates back to the old Jewish Feast of the Passover. According to a Church historian: "The first Christians being derived from or intimately connected with the Jewish Church, naturally continued to observe the Jewish festivals, though in new spirit, as commemorative of events of which those had been shadows. The Passover, ennobled by the thought of Christ as the true Pascal Lamb, continued to be celebrated, and became the Christian Easter."

Early differences arose as to the precise day on which the Easter Festival should be observed. In the Jewish calendar the Passover occurs on a fixed day of the month; while the Christians, from the earliest days, assigned the Easter Festival to a fixed day of the week, namely, Sunday, that being the first day of the week and the day, according to Scripture upon which Christ rose from the dead. Astronomical problems of a confusing character were largely responsible for those differences, which continued until the year 325 A. D., when the Council of Nica decreed that everywhere in Christendom Easter should be celebrated on the same day. But it was not until the adoption of the Gregorian Calendar in 1582 that this decree secured anything like general acceptance; and even to this day in the Churches of Greece and Russia as well as in some of the Oriental congregations where the modern calendar has not been accepted. Easter falls sometimes before and sometimes after the date on which the Festival is celebrated by the Western churches. Surely the sacredness of the glorious Easter Day should prompt every citizen of Xenia City to attend church services. Splendid programs, both musical and ceremonial, have been arranged for you. Even the stranger within our gates will find a ready welcome at any edifice he visits. No matter what your faith, any of the churches whose announcements appear on this page, will have Easter Services that are sure to please you. So go to Church on Easter.

RUSS WOMEN IN FEMINIST MOVE DEMAND RIGHTS

Moscow, Russia, March 30.—The feminist movement in Soviet Russia is gaining strength. A recent meeting here of the Congress of International Working Women was largely attended and discussion revealed a definite program on the part of the leaders along lines calculated to improve the lot of working women of Russia.

The program discussed by the congress proposed measures for the political, cultural and technical education of working women. Speakers strongly urged the women to unite in a fight against vodka and opposition to further war was strongly expressed. The development of family life along communistic lines was advocated a definite proposal for communal kitchens being along the methods advocated.

The slogan of the congress was: "Union of all workers of all countries around the Third Internationale."

During the congress the following appeal issued by the Central Department Komintern for Work Among Women was read:

"Mothers and wives and working women of the West will you remain indifferent to the restarting of the deuce of blood? Will you again allow yourselves to be drawn into this false position? Will you in the future bear the chains which capitalism puts upon you? Will you allow the bourgeois to mark your children for hunger and death? No comrades! On this our proletarian international day proclaim your readiness to fight with the workingmen for freedom!"

SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE SHOWS NEED OF BETTER PROVISIONS FOR HOUSING IN LIMITS OF THE CITY

As an example of the need for better housing conditions in Xenia, Mrs. Carrie I. Robertson, secretary of the Social Service League, has cited one of many cases in the city, that has been cared for by the organization, during times of need.

One cold rainy week in February, Mrs. Robertson was called to the East end to see a white family, consisting of a husband, wife and three babies, reported to be in great need. The husband, had been laid off from the railroad, and had been ill, suffering from a severe cough for several weeks. The children had also been ill.

The family live in a house of four rooms, built in a line, the living room was the front room, the best in the house, the kitchen, being the last in the back, making two cold rooms to pass through each time in reaching the kitchen. The arrangement of the home made a great waste of coal, which the City was buying, according to Mrs. Robertson. The room adjacent to the living room which might have been used for a kitchen, thus conserving heat, had most of the plaster off and a bad flue, so the use of the room was out of the question. The kitchen floor was flooded for several days. The sick husband and children were forced to go into the room to eat.

They are not living in this house from choice," said Mrs. Robertson, "they have been looking for months for something better that they could rent on their income. The League and city furnished food, coal, clothing, and medicine for the family.

The family is only one of many cases in the city, according to Mrs.

Robertson, which can be aided through the support of the public of the Community Chest Drive, which will be renewed in the near future, for aiding charity in the city. The Drive was abandoned several months ago, during the epidemic of grip and "flu" in the city, charitable organizations again taking up the work, for the aid of poor families of the town. Further details of the management of the drive will be announced later.

IS AMERICA SEAT OF ANCIENT RACE

Boston, March 30.—You may have a treasure-laden tomb of a king of an era older than that of Tut-Ankh-Amen right in your back yard. Under your potato patch or your front porch may rest a sarcophagus of a potentate who ruled centuries before old King Tut was even thought of.

"According to the traditions handed down from centuries and centuries ago by the ancient Yogis," said Yogananda, "far back in the distant ages there was a civilization far in the West—probably on the American continent—long before Egypt became the characteristics of the ancient Egyptians and the American Indian. It is by no means improbable that the American Indian represents the degenerated race of the ancient culture which existed on this continent. Certain South American Indians—the Incas, for example, who even at the time of the discovery of this continent maintained a high type of civilization—bore striking resemblance to the Egyptians—not only in form and feature but in customs.

So that it is highly probable that if the American excavators who discovered Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb with its vast treasures, were to dig deep enough right here in the United States they would find similar ones.

REMODELING SALE

Fifteen Days

Starts April 2

Fifteen Days

OUR CONSTANTLY GROWING STOCK makes us realize that our means of displaying our goods is not sufficiently large, and we are starting to remodel our store front on April 2nd. We feel that the people of this trading community are entitled to see in our windows a generous display of the class of merchandise of which we handle, not just an insignificant sample or so. This does not do our stock justice, and the remodeling will greatly enlarge our window space, making two large windows instead of one small one. During this big event we will try to make new friends and acquaintances, as well as to keep our old ones, through special prices—in other words, a big remodeling sale, with the hope of bringing all who live in this community to realize that this store is here for service, courteous treatment and real merchandise prices.

ZINNIA ADOPTED AS OFFICIAL FLOWER OF CITY BY CLUB WOMEN

That the Zinnia will be the official flower of Xenia and that "Xenia grows Zinnias" will be adopted as the flower slogan has been definitely decided by the various organization of the city interested in the project.

The matter of an official flower for Xenia has been sponsored by the Current Events club but the other organizations of the city were all asked to submit suggestions and the sentiment was so strongly in favor of the Zinnia is a brilliantly colored, showy flower that makes very pleasing decoration and has the added virtue of being easy to grow. It has a long blooming period and will make the city gay with color throughout the summer and fall.

Seed growers have offered to sell the seeds to the Committee of the Current Events Club at cost and envelopes for the seeds have been donated. It is the plan of the club to sell these packets for 10 cents a packet and the profit will be used to supply the seeds for the grounds of the public buildings and the city parks. The seeds will be sold to all local organizations and individuals and it is hoped to realize enough from their sale to not only make the grounds of the Court House, schools and churches bright with the flowers but also distribute some to persons unable to purchase seeds.

Seeds may be obtained from Mrs. Frank Keyes, West Market Street, Mrs. Harry Whitmer, West Market Street, or Mrs. Charles Kelble, West Church Street.

Members of the committee suggest that if the seeds are planted in the parking space along the curbing the streets of Xenia will during the coming summer be lined with the glowing flowers and every one who visits the city will be impressed with the fact that "Xenia grows Zinnias."

FACTIONALISM IN CHURCH IS ENDED

Cincinnati, O., March 30.—Recent dissensions in the New Thought church which last winter threatened to assume a national aspect, so far as the sect was concerned, were ended with the announcement last night that the majority of the campaign favored the recall of Mrs. Mary Cornell Stolber, about whom the Schism began, to be leader.

Mrs. Stolber is one of the national leaders of the denomination. The fight was said to be one of factionalism in the sect, due to personal factors.

ELOPING COUPLE WEDS.

Toledo, March 30.—While police were combing the city for Miss Erna Marxhausen, 26, said to be a Detroit heiress, and her fiance, Christian Fredericks, 45, also of Detroit, the couple slipped into the Lucas county courthouse and were married by Judge Austin. Police were acting at the request of Mrs. Laura Marxhausen, Miss Erna's mother.

BANCROFT BELIEVES GIANTS WILL REPEAT
MANY HIGH CLASS YOUNGSTERS IN GAME SAYS WALSH
KILBANE MAY BE REINSTATED IN NEW YORK

YOUNGSTERS MAKE GOOD.

By Davis J. Walsh.

New York, March 30.—This apparently is to be a year of high class youngsters in baseball the first since the Federal league combined with an excessively pestiferous world in an attempt to annoy, disturb and otherwise aggravate that laudable institution.

Willie Kamm, for example, is expected to give $100,000 worth of baseball to the Chicago White Sox. Jimmy O'Connell and Jack Bentley, for whom the Giants bade a sad adieu to a matter of $140,000, are naturally looked upon as successful candidates at San Antonio, although neither has got around to being downright convincing about it, as yet. These are rather obvious examples of the rising young men in baseball. The dollar mark is on them and the luxury tax being what it is, the presumption is that hard headed baseball men like McGraw and Comiskey would scarcely pay the price if the players in question were not destined to make the raffle.

Many recruits of more obscure origin have been equally impressive at other camps, however, the majority of them being infielders for no particular reason. A notable example is one Lou Rosenberg, who came up to the White Sox, from the sandlots of Frisco and made good overnight. His defensive work around shortstop in the Giant White Sox series has fairly bristled with class. Another is Travis Jackson, who may beat Johnny Rawlings out of his job as utility infielder with the Giants.

A third is Walter Lutzke from Kansas City of whom Speaker whispers many sweet nothings. Still another plausible looking third baseman is Homer Ezzell, from Shreveport who may catch on with the Browns, to say nothing of Sam Hale, for whom Connie Mack is alleged to have paid $75,000 to Portland, and Walter Riconda, from New Haven.

The Dodgers are at present dealing with a juvenile infield, featuring three recent graduates of the Southern Association. They are Fred Schleibner, of Little Rock, first baseman; Stuffy Stewart, of Birmingham a second baseman, and Bill Mulleple of Mobile, a third baseman. All have been stepping high, wide and hand, some at Clearwater and are virtually certain of starting the season as regulars.

The Reds also think rather well of Eddie Hock, an outfielder from Atlanta and Pitcher Roberts, a riot in the Cotton States league; the Indians are sold on Homer Summa, the Texas league outfielder, and Glenn Myatt, the $50,000 catcher from Wilwaykee; the White Sox say that Elish, their expensive outfield purchase, may oust one of the regulars and Leo Dickerman, right hand pitcher from Memphis, has caught on definitely with the Dodgers, as have Tim McNamara and Johnny Cooney, pitchers, with the Braves.

These are said to be the cream, but, for all we know, the milk may taste sweeter in the long run.

Kilbane May Gain Favor

New York, March 30.—Johnny Kilbane and Johnny Wilson, featherweight and middleweight champs, respectively, who are under suspension by the New York State Athletic commission, can gain reinstatement by living up to their "obligations" according to a statement made public today by Chairman William Muldoon.

Both will receive license to box in this state, he declared, if Kilbane will agree to box Johnny Dundee and Wilson will go with his match with Harry Greb.

Cleveland, O., March 30.—"I am ready now as I always have been to meet anyone in the world, in the featherweight class," Johnny Kilbane, world's featherweight champion, told International News Service, today,

commenting on a statement by the New York boxing commission that he can gain reinstatement by meeting Johnny Dundee in a title match. "I have never been offered a chance to meet Dundee, but I'm perfectly willing to do so. No one who can make the limit is barred. All that is necessary is for some one to make the match."

A CORRECTION.

Sport Editor:—

The score as reported between the St. Brigid's Cadets and McKinley was wrong as was the name, for it was the Herr Brothers Team. The score was 11 to 8, as a foul was called as the whistle blew and was made by Herr.

Reader.

Predicts Giant Victory

San Antonio, Tex., March 30.—Dave Bancroft, captain and star shortstop of the New York Giants, today predicted that his club would win the National league pennant for the third straight year as the squad prepared to break camp.

"As far as I can see, there isn't a single reason why we shouldn't make it three in a row," Bancroft said.

Infant League Opens

New York, March 30.—The Atlantic league, an infant baseball organization will open its season May 2, and close on Labor Day, it was announced today, by President Ernest Landgraf, former owner of the Syracuse franchise in the international league.

FORMER PITCHER DYING

Chicago, March 30.—Claude "Lefty" Williams, once famous lefthanded pitcher of the White Sox whose career was wrecked by the 1919 world's series scandal, was lying at the point of death at a hospital here today. He was taken ill with pneumonia four days ago and his condition rapidly grew worse.

TURNED DOWN

PRINCE'S PROPOSAL.

Paris, March 30.—Lady Mary Cambridge, whose engagement to the Marquis of Worcester has just been announced, turned down a proposal of marriage by the Prince of Wales in May of last year, according to gossip in high British society circles in Paris.

RECEIVES WORD OF DEATH OF RELATIVE

Mrs. J. W. Matthews, who resides on the Magruder farm, four and one half miles south of Xenia, received word Friday of the death of her brother-in-law, Charles Bradley, formerly of Bowersville, who died at his home in Springfield, Thursday night at eleven o'clock. Death was caused by high blood pressure, Mr.

Bradley having been ill only a few hours.

He is survived by his wife, and two children, Robert and Clarence, of Springfield, and two brothers, Frank Bradley, of Springfield, and John Bradley, whose residence is unknown. His mother, died two weeks ago at Danneville, Ohio.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

FOUR STUDENTS SUSPENDED.

Columbus, March 30.—Four students at Ohio State university were suspended for alleged purchase of intoxicating liquors from bootleggers. President Thompson made it plain that violators of the prohibition statutes will be summarily dealt with by the university and that dismissal will be the penalty in every case.

UNDERTAKERS ARE OPPOSED TO EXHUMING "TUT"

BY CHESTER B. BAHN, Syracuse, N. Y., March 28. — Denouncing as "barbarous and sacrilegious," the efforts of scientists to cause the exhumation of King Tut-Ankh's mummy from its 3,000-year resting place in an ancient Egyptian tomb, Syracuse undertakers have raised a storm of protest against disturbing the remains of the famous ruler.

"The movement is the most barbarous I have ever heard of. I see no more reason for placing this relic in a museum than for the exhumation of the bodies of our own heroes, Lincoln and Washington, declared undertaker W. B. Harding to-day.

James P. Burns declared: "Let the scientists ought to contend to let poor old King Tut remain where he is. Despite the circumstances surrounding his discovery, the fact remains he has been there 3000 years and the world has not stopped moving yet because of it."

C. C. Carroll said: "The dead, once buried, should not be disturbed. The men who are fostering the movement to place the mummy in a museum would revolt at the suggestion that we place the mummies of their relatives beside that of King Tut. Furthermore, I can't see why they feel they must remove the remains at this late date."

A. R. Hollen says: "We ought to consider the old King's personal feelings. I am strongly opposed to placing any more mummies in museums. In fact, I believe the mummies now in the museums should be restored to their resting places."

Charles A. Clement, of the firm of Cornell & Clement, says: "It is an outrage. Let him repose where he is. Would you want some so-called scientific poking around the bones of your relatives just to find out what they were years ago?"

Joseph A. Keegan, of Keegan & Osvelt, styled the exhumation as "irreverent and sacrilegious."

"What difference does it make to

A Wonderful Feed

"A WONDERFUL FEED!" This was the statement made by Albert Angell, Jr., the noted poultry expert, when he made and tested Vitality Chick Starter. Angell says, "In this new feed we use buttermilk and an abundance of oatmeal and bone meal, the greatest ingredients known for making rapid growth and large frames. We can now grow more chicks on Vitality Chick Starter than any other feed I have ever known. The first four weeks tells the story of the chick's life. Grow them fast, big and plump in this time and then the rest is easy."

Albert Angell, Jr., also recommends Vitality Growing Mash from four weeks to six months in growing pullets for Fall and Winter laying. Ask for a copy of "Scientific Poultry Feeding and Management" and raise every chick.

Be sure the signature of Albert Angell, Jr., is on every sack of Vitality Chick Starter and Vitality Growing Mash, with our guarantee of absolute satisfaction when fed according to directions.

Mrs. Lewis presided.

us of the present day whether they lived on olive oil or crocodiles in the days of King Tut? The only thing that will benefit, apparently, will be the pocketbooks of the Parisian designers. By the way, how would you like to have your mummified corpse exposed to the inquisitive eyes and equally prying fingers of the Martians some 5,000 years hence?"

It is strange that more women do not make the famous old-fashioned Southern Tea Cake. There is no more delicious cake to "nibble at" between meals or to serve with an afternoon cup of tea or coffee. I have rewritten the time-honored recipe, interlarding it with "just how" details, to help the young housekeeper.

Southern Tea Cakes: Put into a medium-sized bowl one cup of butter, and work this to a creamy consistency. Then work into the butter two cups of granulated sugar, adding only a little at a time. When the two are blended, stir in one and one-half cups of sweet milk in which you have dissolved one-half teaspoon of baking soda. Then add two beaten eggs. Beat well, and add four and three-fourths cups of ordinary bread flour, a little at a time, beating well after each addition.

You will now have a very stiff paste in your bowl. This is as it should be, for these cakes are rolled out with a rolling pin. Turn the mass out onto a lightly floured bread board and roll it three-quarters of an inch thick. Now take either a cookie cutter or an ordinary drinking glass, press its edges in flour, and cut the rolled-out batter into discs. Place these discs close together on buttered pans. (I generally can get seven or eight of them onto one round pan.)

Get your oven very hot. If you have a Fahrenheit oven thermometer, wait until it registers 500 before putting your cakes in to bake. After 15 minutes, do not be afraid to open the oven door and look at the cakes every now and then. They must not be allowed to burn—just to brown delicately. In all they will require from 25 to 30 minutes of baking. Frost with the following:

Uncooked White Icing: Put one egg-white into a dish. Do not beat it. Rub into it one cup of confectioners' sugar and one teaspoon of vanilla extract. Spread this frosting on the cakes as soon as they come from the oven.

A PURITAN WIFE

By Jane Phelps

CHAPTER XLVI

Ann went to the party and suffered torture all the evening. Grace told gayly of her trip with Dick, of how she had to help him out of the car, and drive most of the way home, because she was afraid they'd have an accident. She made a joke of Dick's being unable to drink; said he didn't know his own name when he did; that he would have left her behind if she hadn't kept close to him and so on.

Ag Ann writhed, she kept saying to herself:

"She'll be gone tomorrow." "Don't let her annoy you, Ann." Hugh Norton, who had been watching her sensitive face, said in a low tone. "No one pays any attention to her nonsense."

"I can't stand much more, Hugh," Ann for the first time weakened before him.

"Make Dick take you home. You look ill."

"No, I'll stay."

They were almost the last ones who left, Dick refusing to take any notice of her repeated hints. Before they left Grace had been for sometime talking in a low tone to Dick. Ann saw him hold her hands for a long time, looking down into her eyes with a strange light in his own—a light that troubled Ann.

Sitting beside her husband in the flivver, Ann heard him sigh. She clenched her hands above the baby, but said nothing. Just before they reached home, Dick said:

"Well, tomorrow night at this time Grace will be in Hollywood. It's going to be mighty dull here without her."

Still Ann said nothing, but her heart was singing a psalm of praise; she would have Dick to herself again! She would make him forget Grace's influence.

For several days Dick seemed unusually quiet, but soon his interest in his planting, in improving his ranch made him talk and discuss things with Ann as usual. She met him more than half way, determined that she would win his thoughts from the girl who had so nearly wrecked their home; who she believed had deliberately tried to.

Often Ann thought of Grace's criticism of her; her talk of how she could not be kitchen maid and still hold a man like Dick; of her taking life too seriously.

Was Grace right? Ann knew she had little time because of her economical ideas; that if she had help in the house she could often be out with Dick. But he had imbued her with a love for the ranch almost if not quite equal to his own, and every penny they saved went into improvements.

Dick had wanted to hire a girl, or a Chinaman, but she had refused. He worked hard, why shouldn't she? They were both working for the same end—a home unencumbered by debt, a future competence. She wondered if in thinking so much of this she had done wrong—wrong as far as Dick was concerned. Had he lost some of the feeling he had for the dainty school teacher, now that she had become the busy, hard-working wife?

She visualized Grace in her stylish clothes, care-free, laughing the days away; and then herself, often too tired to be very companionable.

She was always neat and dainty in her dress, but a print gown, an apron, made even the prettiest woman look plainer than smart sport, and other clothes.

Ann took more pains with her hair, her complexion. She tried to rest when she could, to remove the tracks of her anxiety, her worry that had made Grace say she had gone off so terribly in her looks. She made herself discuss other things than the ranch with Dick, telling him that they must not get into a rut, and think that there was nothing in the world worth talking about but their business. In fact she did all she could to make herself more attractive to Dick, without spending money needed for the ranch for help.

"You grow prettier every day," Dick said once at table, and Ann felt repaid for her efforts. It had been a long time since he had complimented her, and she had blushed like a school girl when he said it.

"She's gone for good, we'll be happy now, Ann constantly assured herself, and gradually the unhappy weeks faded from her mind. She never spoke of Grace, and Dick mentioned her but seldom. When he did, she changed the subject as quickly as possible, but tactfully. It still hurt to hear her name.

If Grace communicated with Dick, Ann knew nothing of it. No letters had come to the ranch. She had been fearful Grace would write as she had previously when away, and had dreaded Dick's asking her to reply to them, knowing she never would consent.

"How well you look, Ann!" Hugh Norton said about a month after Grace left. "You grow prettier and younger every day."

"That's what I tell her," Dick replied. "I don't know how she does it, and work as hard as she does."

"It's because I'm happy Dick, Ann replied softly, anxious that Hugh should know she was no longer anxious, glad to have him see how happy she and Dick now were.

Tomorrow—A New Friend in Doctor Grayson.
